My dear Mr. Hoover:

On several previous occasions our Association was fortunate enough to have Dr. Fern C. Stukenbroeker serve as the feature speaker at a monthly meeting of one of our management clubs. On three to six times each year, I try to locate an audience that is particularly suited for the message that Dr. Stukenbroeker delivers.

Now, I have another request to make. On Monday, February 13, 1967, the Rocky Mountain Management Club of Denver, Colorado, will hold its monthly meeting. The membership of this group is made up of all the major industries in Denver and is an excellent opportunity to reach industrial managers.

On behalf of the National Management Association and the Rocky Mountain Management Club, I extend a cordial invitation to Dr. Stukenbroeker to serve as feature speaker.

We hope we are fortunate enough to again receive a favorable reply to our request.

Sincerely yours

Our group called Methodist Boys Travel Camp that I had written to you about previously had a very informative trip to the F. B. W. Headquarters on Monday, August the 8th as you had planned. We were very sorry that we were not able to meet you personnally. Our guide expressed to us upon our arrival that you would not be available that day. He wanted to be sure that we knew that, and I told him that you had written your regrets prior to our arrival in Washington.

In questioning the implication about the display about communism at work in the U. S., three of us were shown to the office of Mr. Stukenbarker (I am not certain of the spelling of his name) who gave us some leaflets concerning Communism and the churches and he also provided us with time and discussions concerning the subject. It was most helpful.

SUBJECT:

STUKENBROEKER COMMENDATION MATTER

The August, 1966, issue of "Industrial Security," magazine of the American Society for Industrial Security, carries an article by the Director entitled "The Modern-Day Soviet Spy--A Profile." This article is a detailed study of the modus operandi of the Soviet diplomatic spy as he endeavors to make contacts with American businessmen, industrial leaders and other key persons for the purpose of securing valuable information. (A copy of the article is attached.)

SA Fern C. Stukenbroeker of the Crime Research Section did the research work for Mr. Hoover's article. It was necessary for him to review voluminous and complex Bureau files, to evaluate the information received and to develop it in logical and coherent form. The above article reflects that SA Stukenbroeker displayed great depth in thought and exercised great ingenuity and ability. It is expected that this article will received widespread distribution and do much to alert Americans to the dangers of Soviet intelligence activity inside the United States.

RECOMMENDATION:

That SA Stukenbroeker be commended for his splendid work in doing the research for this article.

THE MODERN-DAY SOVIET SPY - A PROFILE

by

John Edgar Hoover, Director Federal Bureau of Investigation United States Department of Justice

On February 2, 1966, a giant airplane soared up from one of New York City's airports. It wheeled gracefully, seemed to hang momentarily as for one more look, then streaked out over the ocean.

Among the passengers was a short, balding man, rather handsome, who nervously peered out the window.

His name was Vadim Anatolevich Isakov—a Russian national who until a few days previously had been a Procurement Officer for the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund (UNICEF).

But he no longer held that job. Why? Because he had "goofed."

Isakov first arrived in the United States on February 15, 1962—almost four years before—with his wife, Lyudmila Isakova, and their sons, Dmitry and Andrey. He went to work with UNICEF at UN Headquarters in New York City. In his job he had the responsibility of purchasing laboratory chemicals and supplies used by UNICEF in its work around the world.

But he also had another job—and here is where he "goofed"—and "goofed" badly!

Isakov was a Soviet intelligence agent—a spy attempting, under cover of his UN employment, to secure industrial and technological products and information in this country for the USSR.

Here is the story of Isakov's espionage downfall, causing his dismissal from UNICEF and his sudden return to the Soviet Union.

In the summer of 1965, Isakov telephonically contacted a New Jersey businessman whose company handled surplus equipment and machinery, saying he represented UNICEF and wanted to set up a luncheon appointment. He was interested, he said, in discussing the purchase of surplus machinery for UNICEF.

A few days later Isakov met with the New Jersey businessman and his partner in New York City. At this meeting Isakov more or less directed the conversation. What kind of company did the Americans operate? Where did they purchase their equipment? What products did they specialize in? It appeared that Isakov was exploring the possibilities of purchases beyond the needs of UNICEF.

One morning Isakov personally came to the business location of the two Americans. He stated that he had contacts in Europe who were interested in securing certain industrial products. Could the American businessman obtain them? Isakov took a piece of paper from his pocket and specified in detail what he wanted. He had exact model numbers, the manufacturers' names and other technical data.

Among items requested by Isakov at this meeting were:

- two ten-gallon tanks (which would withstand 600 atmospheres) made of titanium alloy;
- three accelerometers (Isakov specified exact models and manufacturers);
- one underwater robot;
- one microtronic computer.

This equipment, and other products requested by the Soviet, had both civilian and military applications. The underwater robot, for example, whose cost could be as high as $300,000 was designed for the study and photographing of ocean and lake beds. It could be used for surveying underwater routes for telephone cables. Other equipment, such as the accelerometers, might be utilized in the missile program.

In the presence of Isakov, the businessman telephoned various companies endeavoring to secure prices and information about the equipment.

"The cost will be considerable," the American commented. Moreover, some of the items would probably require export licenses. However, Isakov had the answers. Money was no problem and he would take care of the shipping. These purchases, he said, were not for UNICEF.

As time progressed, Isakov and the Americans met a number of times. The Soviet made mention of large sums of money that he was willing to pay; for example, $18,000 for six accelerometers. He said his "customer abroad" (without giving specific information) might be in a position to "throw" $100,000 worth of business to the Americans' firm. This would mean, the Soviet kept emphasizing, that they could make a "lot of money."

If the Americans wanted to contact him at United Nations Headquarters, Isakov said, they should speak to no other person in case he happened not to be there!

Isakov was bold, aggressive and self-confident. He seemed to be straining to do a good job—and he did everything possible to purchase these items. However, unknown to him, he was working against the FBI.

The New Jersey businessmen quickly recognized that Isakov possessed little technical knowledge, that he seemed to be merely repeating instructions he had received from other persons. Moreover, Isakov, a UN employee, obviously was acting outside the scope of his legitimate job. The businessmen immediately contacted the FBI and cooperated with us. Isakov did not receive the items he so desperately wanted.

In January, 1966, UNICEF officials learned of Isakov's irregular behavior and his attempts to circumvent Government regulations, and he was requested to resign. This he did. A few days later Isakov—a troubled and worried Russian—left New York. Not only had he bungled an important espionage operation, resulting in unfavorable publicity for his country, but he had another worry now—what would happen to him back in Moscow where "goofs" often led to severe disciplinary measures!

What do we find in the Isakov case—a case which is typical of many in our files?

The answers give an understanding of some of the problems we face today in the field of Soviet intelligence.

A key target of Soviet espionage today is American industry. The Russians want industrial, scientific and technological information of all types (public source and classified). Isakov was eager to secure industrial products relating to our missile and space programs. He was also interested in the medical field. Not only do the Soviets desire the complete machine or product, but they also want the technical know-how of its manufacture: blueprints, engineering manuals, employee training documents. They prefer the already proven, successfully operating products and know-how to nebulous, abstract concepts of scientific research. The Russians are very practical-minded. They want equipment which will be of help to them now.

Russian officials in the United States form the backbone of Soviet espionage operations against this country. These individuals are both diplomatic (officials legally accredited to this country as diplomats, assigned either to the Soviet establishment in Washington, D. C., or the United Nations in New York City and having diplomatic immunity) and non-diplomatic (Russians, such as Isakov, not having diplomatic immunity, working in a variety of places, such as certain jobs at the United Nations, at Amtorg—the Soviet commercial agency in New York City which has served as a seedbed of Soviet spying since its founding in 1924—or studying at American universities as "students" or coming to the United States as part of some mission or delegation for a temporary visit).

The Soviets are interested in making personal and friendly contacts with American businessmen, scientists, industrial executives and employees—or any other person who might be exploited for their purposes. Isakov made direct, personal contacts with the New Jersey businessmen, as he also did with other Americans. Other Soviet officials are doing the same at this hour. In fact, from our cases we can identify what we might call a regular pattern of personal contact with American businessmen, industrial managers and employees.

If an American is contacted by a Soviet, then recontacted, perhaps invited to lunch or social functions, he should start asking himself questions. "Why this Soviet interest in me?" "Is it just personal friendship or is there an ulterior purpose somewhere?" If the Russian, very "innocently," asks the American to furnish him some public source documents (as company literature, magazines or technical information which can readily be secured in the public library), the businessman should certainly take a second look. If the Soviet offers to hire the American as a consultant (for a fee) or wants him to furnish some information "for a friend in Moscow," he will be encountering telltale signs of the Soviet modus operandi. Or the Russian may suggest that his country will legitimately buy some material from the American's firm (sometimes the Soviets do) or dangle, as in the case of Isakov, promises of large orders of equipment. If the Soviet asks for confidential or classified information or data which the American realizes should not be furnished, the businessman will know that here is the real crisis point. The Soviets want public source data, but above all, they want to break through to classified material.

For the Russians, friendship always has a purpose. The American being contacted by the Soviets should constantly be alert, discerning and careful about what he says, the information he furnishes (verbal and written), the aid, if any, he gives this man from Moscow.

The Russians depend on money (both its promise and actual delivery) to effect espionage. In the Isakov case the Soviet was quick to offer money in two ways. First, he was willing to pay well for the technical equipment he wanted the New Jersey businessmen to secure. Secondly, he was constantly reminding them that they could make some money "on their own." Here was the lure—the temptation.

We find that the Soviets are careful and judicious financial bargainers. They are quick to offer large sums. Isakov mentioned that his "customer abroad" could give the Americans $100,000 worth of business. In one meeting in November, 1965, he told one of the businessmen that he had $6,000 in cash with him that evening to pay for the accelerometers if the American had brought them. The Soviets, however, will not pay money blindly or at random. They must satisfy themselves that they are getting what they want. However, if they sense they are breaking through to valuable data, they will pay large sums—and quickly.

Unfortunately, money is one of the most potent weapons of Soviet espionage. The tragedy is that on some occasions the Russians do find Americans who will accept cash for information.

Mention should also be made that if an American accepts money at any time he lays himself open to possible Soviet coercion or blackmail. Remember, to the Russians espionage is a deadly business. They will not hesitate to utilize illegal, dirty methods if it serves their purposes.

Soviet espionage in this country is today being committed by highly professional, well-trained agents who (like Isakov) are suave, articulate, aggressive, poised, who speak English well and are conversant with American customs, thereby enabling them to make effective direct and personal contacts with American businessmen, industrial executives and employees.

This is one of the basic facts of modern-day Soviet espionage—the kind of agent they are employing. Every industrial employee should know more about this style of agent: who he is, how he operates, what are his aims. Too frequently the Soviets by sheer bravado, self-confidence and smoothness of approach have been able to ingratiate themselves with Americans—and through this "front" manipulate and exploit businessmen, industrial managers and employees. To use a term from the field of crime, these Russians are expert confidence men, using personal charm, savoir-faire and sweet words to open doors of opportunity for themselves.

Just who is the modern-day Soviet agent—the one who might contact you? What is his profile?

A high percentage of the Soviets being sent to the United States today are young men—in their late 20's and 30's. They represent the "new generation" in the Soviet Union—more gay, sociable and spontaneous than the so-called Stalinist generation. Isakov, for example, was only 22 years of age when Stalin died. Another Soviet was only 27 (age 16 when Stalin died) when he arrived in this country for assignment.

In past years, Soviet agents lacked this social polish and charm—it was the exception rather than the rule. In the 1920's, the Comintern "reps" or representatives (some of Russia's early espionage agents), with their long hair, seedy physical appearances and crude manners, were sights to behold. They tried to conceal their identities by the use of false documents (often supplied by members of the Communist Party, USA).

Even later (under Stalin) freshly arrived Russian officials in this country could be readily identified by their bell bottom trousers, coarse looks and heavy drab clothes. Upon reaching Washington, D. C., or New York City, they seemed temporarily shocked by life in the United States—the abundance of consumer foods, the amount of automobile traffic, the ease of personal movement, the freedom of the individual. Many could not speak English fluently (and would attend special language classes). They had difficulty adjusting to the bustle, tempo, and diversity of our everyday life. The discipline of their spy training seemed to make them hesitant and fearful.

Soviet intelligence, however, has done a masterful job of "regrooming" its agents. This is a point we must remember. They are now well dressed, highly poised, excellent mixers. Their conduct betrays the effects of extensive indoctrination in the Soviet Union about American life, customs and habits. They speak excellent English (including American slang), wear the latest in American clothes and thoroughly enjoy "capitalist luxury" (they like to dine at fancy restaurants, drive late-model cars, live in air-conditioned homes; their wives dress in stylish clothes). If you saw one of these Russians on the street, he would be virtually indistinguishable from the well-dressed young American businessman. The crudities, rough exteriors and coarseness which marked some of the earlier agents have been scrubbed away.

Of key importance to us here is the social aggressiveness of the new-style agents. At conventions, parties or in personal contacts, they are invariably excellent mixers. Sometimes they are the "life of the party," playing guitars. Many have traveled widely (Isakov worked for the Soviets in India, Indochina and Japan prior to coming to the United States), speak several languages (Isakov spoke Japanese fluently) and are able conversationalists. Soviet intelligence is today encouraging its agents to get out—to meet Americans, to be friendly with them, to accept invitations to cocktail parties, golf clubs, swimming pools. They want to meet you.

Compared with previous years, Moscow is allowing more personal freedom and mobility to its agents. This reflects the sophistication and efficiency of today's Soviet spy apparatus. In the Stalin era, Soviets in the United States seemed fearful that too extensive a contact with bourgeois society might corrupt them. Soviet families were clannish, sticking largely to their own national group. Now the Soviet likes to receive invitations to an American home—and he'll bring his entire family. Or, he'll invite an American to his apartment. Soviet intelligence is teaching its agents how to exploit the freedom, mobility and diversity of a free society for their own purposes: that is, to make personal contacts which will enable them to carry out their espionage assignments. Unless an agent meets an American, finds people who have access to information he wants, how can he do his job?

On some occasions the Soviets will assign as diplomats in this country Russian nationals who have previously been in the United States as "students"—a technique which aids the "regrooming" process. In one instance, a Soviet arrived in the United States as a graduate exchange student. He enrolled in an American university and stayed the entire school year. (Academically his work was of extremely poor quality, betraying the lack of both a scholarly background and intent.) Just a few months after he had returned to the Soviet Union, he reappeared in this country as a Soviet official. What better Americanization process could be desired? This young man had been exposed to almost a year of life in the United States—meeting people, learning how to live in our society, making personal contacts. In fact, the University and fellow students went out of their way to help the Russian become acclimated—to gain a knowledge which he was soon to employ against us.

But, all the time, under this pleasant exterior there is another purpose—and so often the American does not see the inner and hidden aims of these men from Moscow. The Russian is a talent scout, an observer, a recruiter: he is carefully scrutinizing every individual whom he meets, whether by design or chance, and asking a number of pertinent questions:

- Who is this American? What is his name? Where does he work? Is his company involved in fields in which the Soviets are interested? We find that Moscow will give Soviet agents in the United States special assignments—as in the medical field, missile development, aircraft production. If the Soviet, for example, has the task of getting information about aircraft, just imagine how his eyes would light up if he met an executive or other employee who worked in an aircraft plant!! That American would become a focal point of attention with the Russian giving him the "grand play." As explained earlier, the employee probably would receive a telephone call ("Could we have lunch together?") Step by step, the pattern of personal contact would emerge.
- ✓ If possible, in the initial or an early contact, the Russian will be asking personal questions: Is the American in financial trouble? Does he need money to meet the next mortgage or car payment? How much money does he make? There is an immediate sympathetic understanding of any personal problems of the American. Are there unpaid hospital bills? Has the American ever been arrested or been in any trouble?

This point cannot be re-emphasized too frequently. Any employee in an industrial establishment (especially those having confidential contracts) is a potential Soviet espionage target. Hence, you as a business leader, or any employee (whether he is an engineer, a draftsman, a company librarian, a guard), may be under scrutiny by the Soviets. You may receive a call from a Russian official. How did he receive your name? You may never know. He perhaps has met you at a party, a scientific convention, seen your name in a company publication or newspaper, or has secured it from a mutual friend. In one instance, an American visited the Soviet Embassy in Washington, D. C. A short time later came the "follow-up" contact. Another American met a Russian at a roller skating rink. Still another (just by chance) bumped into a Soviet at a railroad station. The American was temporarily embarrassed. He had ordered a piece of pie and couldn't find the money to pay for it. The Soviet gladly paid for it—and a contact developed. Another businessman toured the Soviet Union—and later was contacted by an intelligence agent.

The Soviet spy is constantly engaged in what we might call target assessment. He is looking for weak points in industrial firms. A company's physical security may be excellent: control of documents; guarding of plant facilities; the wearing of identification badges when required. But if the Soviets can develop a source of information (a person who will furnish them data) inside your plant, they will have at one stroke nullified much of your otherwise good work. Remember the great damage just ONE person can do. Just one employee under Russian control can often within a matter of a few weeks furnish large amounts of information (documentary and verbal) to the man from Moscow.

Often the comment is heard: how do the Soviets entice Americans to furnish information, especially data of a confidential nature?

Here is the problem posed for the Russian—how can he coax, cajole, coerce or otherwise control the American—perhaps an employee of your company.

A number of weapons are available to the Russian.

- Ideological appeal—the Soviet finds an employee who is ideologically sympathetic to communism or is friendly with the international aims and position of the Soviet Union. In years past, the Soviets have made use of members of the Communist Party, USA, though since World War II, for security reasons, the Russians are not eager to solicit known Party members to do their work. Gus Hall, the General Secretary of the Communist Party, estimated that there are some 100,000 "state-of-mind members" in this country, meaning individuals sympathetic to the communist position. Here lies a vast reservoir for possible Soviet exploitation.
 - How do the Soviets determine an American's ideological position? Largely, by conversation, asking questions. What does the American think of the Vietnam war? Of the Soviet Union? Of the Sino-Soviet split? If the Soviets detect an anti-American position, a sympathy for the Moscow position, this can be possibly exploited. Ideological motivation is a powerful espionage weapon of the Soviets.
- A disgruntled, spiteful employee. Again, in conversation the Russian learns that the employee of your company is unhappy: he doesn't like the boss, he's not being paid enough, he is being "persecuted," he doesn't get along with fellow employees. The employee may feel he's getting "even" with the company by furnishing information to the Soviets—who are only too happy to cooperate.

- sian (or from one of the East European-controlled countries), the Soviet will make a special appeal—to blood, to family, to nationality. While this approach on some occasions gives a special talking point to the Russians, it likewise represents an Achilles heel. Many individuals in the United States have fled from communist persecution of their homelands. The first Soviet contact may bring a violent and negative answer from the American. Nevertheless, we find special interest by the Soviets in national groups in this country.
- Hostage situation. If the Russians learn that an employee has relatives behind the Iron Curtain, the Soviet gains additional weapons. First will come gentle persuasion (the Soviets may produce "letters" from so-called relatives calling for the American to "cooperate"). If that doesn't work, more firm methods might be utilized.
- Coercion and blackmail. To the Russians, espionage is a business. If they feel coercion and blackmail (especially in the case of Americans traveling in the Soviet Union) will serve their purposes, they will not hesitate to employ those methods. Never judge the Russian agent just by his smile, his willingness to pay the luncheon check, his thoughtfulness in remembering your birthday with a bottle of vodka, his invitations to the ballet. He has a job to do. He must report to his superior on what he has accomplished, whom he has met, his prospects for future access to information. If he doesn't produce or "goofs" (as Isakov), he's in trouble. Much is at stake. This is his career!
- Appeal to free exchange of information. Here is an appeal especially to scientists and individuals who honestly feel that empirical research is impeded if any interference is placed on the free exchange of information from one nation to another. An American scientist completely loyal and patriotic told one of our Special Agents that he felt in the interest of science we should allow total access by the Russians to information (whether confidential or not) available in this country in his particular field of interest. If the Russians find an individual who feels that America's security program is either unwise or immoral, they will, of course, exploit his viewpoint.
- Appeal of money. Here was Isakov's appeal to the New Jersey businessmen. This appeal, though effective, entails great risk for the Russians. Any sub-agent accepting money for information is selfish, calculating, and operates on the principle of expediency. Any minute he may raise his "ante." He sometimes becomes difficult to control. The Russians can never fully trust him. Yet money has enabled the Soviets many times to gain the information they want

Ultimately, the final weapon in the offensive quiver of the Soviet is his ability to convince you, the American. Remember, he is working, from his point of view, in a foreign country, where the vast majority of people are anti-communist and opposed to the Soviet position in world affairs. If the businessman or industrial employee were behind the Iron Curtain, a vast variety of techniques could be (and often are) used against him. But in this country, the final Soviet weapon is the wit, charm and geniality of the Russian agent—if he can convince, dominate, control the American:

- to convince him to furnish information (public source and confidential);
- to encourage him to furnish names of fellow employees and others who may later be contacted by the Soviets;
- to cajole him into receiving mail for the Soviets (that is, to become a mail drop);
- to coax him to perform some other act which the Russian wants done.

At all times, the Soviet realizes the precariousness of his position. The American might, for some reason, report these contacts to the FBI (as happened to Isakov) or to his security officer at his plant or otherwise do something to jeopardize the security of the operation. The Russian realizes that his activities may either be an abuse of his diplomatic prerogatives (which could result in persona-non-grata action) or an overt violation of Federal law (which, if he does not possess diplomatic immunity, could lead to arrest and conviction under United States statutes). On occasions, a Soviet will bring an associate to a meeting with the American. Why? The second Russian can help evaluate the subagent. Maybe the first Russian is being transferred, or going home on leave, and his fellow agent will handle future contacts with the American.

What I want to emphasize is this: Soviet espionage in this country would become virtually nonexistent if the Russians were unable to solicit the cooperation, in some form or another, of Americans!

The most effective way of striking at the Soviet agent is:

- be alert to his tricks (including his "charm" and "golden tongue");
- identify his real purpose in contacting you (to secure information);

report any information of a security nature you possess to the proper authorities, that is, to the plant security officer and the FBI.

Members of the American Society for Industrial Security are today doing a magnificent job throughout the country. Here lies the first line of defense—immediate plant security. Your members are responsible for protecting the security of millions of dollars' worth of confidential contracts. You are alert to the many possibilities of Soviet and communist penetration, the many devices which the enemy can employ to break these defenses and secure valuable data.

The security officer's work is often unseen, unheralded, unrecognized. In a company or industrial installation he is often just taken for granted. In the rush of getting the job done, in meeting deadlines, in satisfying demands being made on the company, he and his staff (and security regulations) may be regarded as merely "nuisances," "the same old thing," "impediments." Why wear badges in restricted areas? Why worry about the control of confidential documents? Why can't I take this blueprint along on my trip? Why attend lectures or read material on security?

But your day-to-day effective work is making difficult the task of the Soviet agent—who, sitting outside your plant, is "scratching his brains" with the question, "How can I get inside?" "How can I leapfrog all those security regulations?"

His answer almost invariably will be—cultivate one of your employees, coax, bribe or hocdwink a person in your plant to do his bidding. His patience is almost inexhaustible—if one person doesn't work out, he'll try another. Your company remains a priority target.

For that reason, plant security is vital. It needs the full and continuous support of management. Every employee in your company needs up-to-date information about the kind of Soviet agent who may someday contact him personally—at his home, on the street, at the beach. If he has this information, he'll be able to correctly diagnose the situation and immediately report the information to proper authorities. Not to have this data is to run the risk of being duped—resulting in the loss not only of national security data but also company proprietary information.

Much work needs to be done in educating industrial employees (at all levels) to their security responsibilities. The more effectively we do our job the more difficult becomes the assignment of men like Mr. Isakov and his brothers in espionage.

That's why the profile of the modern-day Soviet agent—with all its dangers—must be known and constantly kept in mind.

Our files reveal Dr. Clyde W. Taylor has been considered bigoted with regard to his stand on Catholics in Government. During 1956 he commented too many Catholics held key positions in the FBI. This statement was refuted, and the Director has indicated he will only deal with Dr. Taylor in writing.
The above arrangements have been confirmed by the Speech Room.

The Honorable J. Edgar Hoover, Director The Federal Bureau of Investigation Department of Justice Pennsylvania Avenue at 9th N. W. Washington, D. C. 20535

My dear Mr. Hoover:

Each year in January Dr. Clyde W. Taylor plans a seminar for pastors and laymen here in the city which is attended by representatives from across the nation. The purpose is to acquaint them with many of the various functions of the Federal Government.

One of the highlights of these seminars is a visit to your department where we have found the members of your staff extremely helpful, informative and most cordial. Both Dr. Fern C. Stukenbroeker and Dr. David Bowers were outstanding in the presentations they made to our seminary last January.

On Tuesday, September 27, 1966, a group of church executives will be here for the semi-annual meeting of our Commission on Chaplains. We will be having a dinner meeting that evening at the Tower House about one mile north of Mount Vernon. Since we have received so many favorable comments about Dr. Fern C. Stukenbroeker's presentation we would like very much to have him address the group at the Tower House. If he is willing to join us for dinner at 7 p.m., we respectfully request that he be made available as our after dinner speaker.

In case Dr. Stukenbroeker is not available we respectfully request that Dr. David Bowers or another member of your staff be designated to speak to our group.

Dear Mr. Stukenbroeker:

You are to be commended for your valuable services in regard to the research necessary for the preparation of the article entitled "The Modern-Day Soviet Spy - A Profile" which appears in the August, 1966, issue of "Industrial Security."

This detailed study of the modus operandi of a Soviet spy as he endeavors to make contacts with Americans will do much to alert citizens to the dangers of intelligence activity and the depth in thought, ingenuity and ability you exercised in the compilation of material for its preparation are certainly exemplary. I am sincerely appreciative of your splendid work.

The Horarable J. Edgar Hoover. Director Federal Bureau of Investigation Department of Justice Washington, D.C.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

We should like to take this opportunity to thank you for making available the services of Dr. Fern C. Stukenbroeker for the Valley Forge Pilgrimage on Thursday, September 29.

We cannot tell you how impressed the entire Pilgrimage ... group was. Dr. Stukenbroeker spoke on a level which could be understood thoroughly by the youngest members of the group, even though he directed his message to the teachers. His message was so pertinent and appropriate for this patriotic group. He received a standing ovation and the Pilgrimage participants were still talking about the points that had been made on the last day of our tour.

We appreciate greatly your consideration in providing such a distinguished speaker to honor further these awardees from across the nation

Dear Dr. Stukenbroeker:

How very pleased we were to be able to present you to the Valley Forge Pilgrimage group on Thursday, September 29.

As we expressed to you that evening, your remarks could not have been more fitting and proper for this particular group. The points you stressed were so pertinent to today's needs and so appropriate for the young people and teachers. We are certain that your address inspired and encouraged them to practice and support more diligently the high ideals and valued precepts of the American Way of Life as they returned to their individual schools. All of the comments were sincerely complimentary. Not only were the Pilgrimage participants impressed, we, of the Foundation's staff, were proud of the speaker that we had chosen.

Thank you so much for the time, effort, and talent which you contributed towards making the Valley Forge Pilgrimage a success.

Best regards from all of your friends at Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge.

Cordially,

Ken Wells II Vice President Awards Administration

SUBJECT: APPEARANCES OF

SA FERN C. STUKENBROEKER

RICHMOND DIVISION OCTOBER 13-14, 1966

COMMENDATION

On 10/13-14/66 captioned Bureau representative made six public appearances within the Richmond Division together with one TV appearance and appeared before the Clerical Staff of the Richmond Office. All of his presentations related to the work of the FBI in the area of espionage and subversion. He appeared before Hampden Sydney College at Hampden Sydney, Virginia; Randolph Macon College for Men at Ashland; Thomas Jefferson High School and Virginia Union University (Negroe), both located in Richmond. From the numerous comments received from the aforementioned schools, it is quite apparent that SA STUKENBROEKER did an outstanding job and made a tremendous impression on the student body whereever he spoke.

I was privileged to hear his presentation to the student body (approximately 800) of the Thomas Jefferson High School and was indeed impressed by the manner in which SA STUKENBROEKER within the matter of minutes following his introduction, had the entire student body "eating out of his hand" by completely captivating their interest. I observed during his entire fifty-minute presentation that this large group of teen-agers gave him their complete attention and were absorbing the information which he was presenting in an extremely interesting fashion. Upon completion of his address, SA STUKENBROEKER received an overwhelming amount of applause which required him to stand and be acknowledged twice as a result of the great appreciation indicated by the loud and continued applause. Following this appearance, an official of the school who was responsible for arranging the assembly stated that if at all possible he would like to make an annual affair out of having SA STUKENBROEKER speak on espionage and subversive matters, as it was quite apparent that the students of Thomas Jefferson High obtained a great deal from his presentation.

In order to further the image of the FBI not only in the Richmond area, but also within the Richmond Office, SA STUKENBROEKER agreed to appear on a live television show, "Richmond Today," where he made an interesting presentation, and also spoke for thirty minutes with the clerical staff of the Richmond Office. Judging by the number of comments made by clerical personnel following SA STUKENBROEKER's talk, it is apparent that they all thoroughly enjoyed his speaking to them while in the Richmond Division.

I would like to express the appreciation of the Richmond Office for the outstanding job SA STUKENBROEKER did during the two days he was in the Richmond Division for furthering the image of the FBI and to commend him for his excellent performances.

ADDENDUM

10-19-66

The Crime Research Section is in thorough agreement that Stukenbroeker should be commended for his fine two-day performance in the Richmond Field Office district on the six speeches mentioned. This Special Agent is thoroughly versed on the subject of communism and has the knack of putting over his subject matter before any type of group. He is particularly effective before school groups. With regard to his appearance at Hampden-Sydney College, word has been received from two members of the student body on the very effective presentation of SA Stukenbroeker. One member of the faculty at this college wrote as follows concerning his appearances there: "His talk this morning at the student assembly was beautifully and lucidly presented, and at the end he received prolonged applause. His class discussion went equally well, and the small luncheon group of faculty and students stayed on for two hours to enjoy his conversation. He has such a pleasant way with people—he makes an admirable representative for the FBI."

PAUL COBLE POST No. 26

Indianapolis, Indiana

4 November 1966

Mr. J. Edgar Hoover, Director Federal Bureau of Investigation Department of Justice Washington, 25, D. C.

Dear Mr. Hoover,

Again the Anti-Communism Seminars sponsored by this American Legion Post in Indianapolis have come to a close for this year. Dr. Fern C. Stukenbroeker, of your staff, was with us for four days and in that time he spoke before approximately twelve thousand high-school students and their faculty in the County Schools of this County.

Dr. Stukenbroeker brought his usual fine presence and presentation to these people and he was well received wherever he went. We have formed strong affection for Dr. Stukenbroeker in his many appearances here and want to assure you that he certainly represents what we are sure would be the best face of your agency. We feel these programs are a distinct success.

Again we would like to thank you for your many years of cooperation in this endeavor which we hope to continue in the future.

I'm enclosing a copy of the Program that was used in this years series, together with a copy of the itinerary that Dr. Stukenbroeker kept during his time here in these four days. You can see that it's been strenuous but he met it unflinchingly.

Rejnactivally,

Dear Mr. Cools

I have received your letter of November 4th, with enclosure, requesting that I designate Dr. Forn C. Stukenbroeker to appear at the Annual Convention of your Association in Stevens Point, Wisconsin, on January 18th or 17th. You may be sure Ir. Stukenbroeker joins me in expressing appreciation for your generous comments.

Thile he would certainly like to be present at your gathering, a prior commitment in New England precludes his having this pleasure. I am sorry it will not be possible for him to be with you.

Cincerely yours,

Personal Attention: Bring to the attention of SA Fern C. Stukenbroeker.

NOTE: Bufiles reflect correspondent wrote to the Director on 11-2-65 requesting SA Stukenbroeker appear at the gathering scheduled for 1-10 or 1-11-66. The Director's letter of 11-5-65 advised it would not be possible for SA Stukenbroeker to handle this commitment. At that time Bufiles contained no record of Mr. Wood and no derogatory information concerning his Association. SA Stukenbroeker, who is assigned to the Crime Records Division, is scheduled bn January 17, 1967, to speak in Boston, Massachusetts before the Council of the New England State Medical Society.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

On November 2, 1965, I wrote you in hopes that Dr, Fern C. Stukenbroeker could appear on our Annual Convention program in Stevens Point. You replied to me on November 5th, advising that you regretted that Dr. Stukenbroeker was unavailable due to pressure of his official commitments. However, you also suggested that the possibility existed that he may be available the following year.

Our Annual Convention for 1967 will be held in Stevens Point on Monday and Tuesday, January 16th and 17th. Our Convention opens with a noon luncheon on Monday and will end Tuesday noon.

Based upon the attendance for the past several years, we estimate that we again have an audience of from 225 to 250 persons on each of these two days. Because of the wonderful comments we have heard about Mr. Stukenbroeker's presentation at the Iowa Retail Hardware Association, we are most interested in learning whether it would be possible for you to arrange to have him appear on our program either Monday afternoon or Tuesday morning. We would be most happy to try to adjust the timing of his appearance to fit in with his schedule.

I will appreciate your advising whether you can give our request favorable consideration.

Thanking you for any favors you can grant us, I remain,

Sincerely,

Dear Sir:

For inclusion in the fund to be paid to the designated beneficiary of any Special Agent of the FBI who has previously contributed to this fund and who dies from any cause except self-destruction while employed as a Special Agent, I am forwarding herewith (by Check) Money Order) the sum of $10, payable to S.A.I.F., to be included in said fund. Dear Mr. Hoover:

Recently we had the privilege of hearing Dr. Fern Stukenbroeker speak on the dangers of Communism. His message was timely inasmuch as he called attention to the fact that the Communist Party U.S.A. met in convention this past summer and that the party is now evidently operating more openly.

Not only did Dr. Stukenbroeker speak before the entire student body, but he also spent two class periods during the day talking with combined social studies classes in a question and answer session.

We appreciate your making Dr. Stukenbroeker available to the Indianapolis area schools through the Paul Coble Post of the American Legion land look forward to a return visit in the future.

Dear Dr. Stukenbroeker:

Thank you for your timely message on the dangers of Communism as seen by the Federal Bureau of Investigation. I hope that by the attentiveness of the audiences you were able to ascertain the interest on the part of the students to learn more about these problems.

Your week was an exhausting one, to be sure, but we were most appreciative of your assembly presentation and also for the time spent with the two groups of social studies classes with whom you met. The opportunity for students to question and receive direct answers makes such a visit by a guest speaker all the more meaningful.

We hope that your return Friday to Washington was pleasant and that the work on your desk, accumulated during your absence, was not too burdensome. It was indeed a personal pleasure for Dr. Bagby, Mr. Eiche, and myself to have lunch with you on Friday afternoon.

I would like to thank you for making it possible for Dr. Fern Stukenbroeker to be with us at St. Fidelis on January 25th. It was easy for us to understand why you chose Dr. Stukenbroeker to represent the F.B.I.

Dr. Stukenbroeker left us with a tremendous impression of the F.B.I.. He certainly is a most impressive man. His vast background and knowledge, his kindness and tact, his deep interest in his work and his skill in communicating his interest make him a wonderful representative. We have had a number of name speakers this year, but I must say that Dr. Stukenbroeker gave an outstanding lecture. In his many informal discussions with student groups and with the faculty, he was most stimulating. In fact, the faculty stayed up much beyond their customary retiring time on Wednesday evening in order to listen to many of the cases which Dr. Stukenbroeker used to illustrate his many points. It would be no exaggeration to say that he has had more of an impact on St. Fidelis then any of our other speakers.

Once again I would like to express the gratitude of the students and faculty of St. Fidelis for sending us Dr. Fern Stukenbroeker.

attended the Freedoms Foundation Meeting in Philadelphia,

Since hearing this speech, she has become a disciple of SA explained that with the permission of the High School principal, advanced students at the School on the subject of Communism.

She said they are reading the Director's book 'Masters of b7C and Mr. CHASTNEY felt that, since these students have all been accepted at various universities and will be future leaders of the country, they should do everything in their power to fully educate them on the subject stated that she has exhausted of Communism. her abilities and knowledge on the subject and that the students are now ready to hear from a man like SA STUKENDROCKER. Mr. CHASTNEY stated that if it took a large number of students to qualify for a speech request, he would go so far as to contact the high schools at Barre and Northfield, Vt., (nearby communities), for the purpose of having a combined audience. He stressed though that this would be a general speech and that SA STUKENBROEKER could speak to the special class afterwards.

During the conversation, they indicated a desire to act as pioneers in the matter of bringing men of SA STUKENBROEKER's qualifications to the various high schools as they are needed. They were advised that their wishes would be forwarded to the Bureau for decision. They were also advised that SA STUKENBROEKER has spoken at Vermont College in Montpelier, Vt., and at Norwich University, Northfield, Vt., in the past and that if one or both of these colleges should be on his itinerary this year, and his airline connections permitted, he might be able to stop at the high school to meet the students.

The above information is being set forth to show the sincere efforts on the part of and Mr. CHASTNEY

SPEECHES ON COMMUNISM LEAN C. STUKENBROCKER EOD 11-16-42 CS-16 CRIME RESEARCH SECTION CRIME RECORDS DIVISION

As you are aware, Special Agent Fern C. Stukenbrocker of this Section is one of the outstanding speakers in the Nation on the subject of communism. He not only knows the theory and facts concerning this menace, but has the ability to present his subject matter in such a manner that it is most interesting and appealing to young and old alike.

For the most part, Stukenbrocker's speeches have been made before student, civic and religious groups. During the past six years he has appeared in approximately 45 states, has made 451 different presentations for an estimated audience of nearly 200, 000. He has traveled over 159,000 miles during this six-year period. Of the total appearances 68 were in the nature of radio programs, while there were 40 television appearances.

RE: SPEECHES ON COMMUNISM

ADDENDUM, 3/22/67 (CDD:csh):

I wish to call attention also to the very excellent work being done by Assistant Director Sullivan and Messrs.

C. D. Brennan and A. W. Gray, of the Domestic Intelligence Division, in connection with their appearances before student, civic, and religious groups. These three representatives, along with SA Stukenbroeker, are the only four employees at the present time making speeches on college and university campuses relative to communism. Their efforts have been outstanding and, while we should be most selective in the future in accepting invitations for such appearances, it is strongly recommended that this program be continued and even expanded to some extent, particularly due to the anti-FBI efforts of the Students for a Democratic Society and the W.E.B. DuBois Clubs. Again, however, we must be very selective in making such appearances.

Dear Mr. Wood:

I have received your letter of August 25th requesting that I designate Dr. Fern C. Stukenbroeker to speak before the annual Convention of your Association during January, 1968.

While this is something I know Dr. Stukenbroeker would like to do, the pressure of his official schedule at that time is such as to preclude his making this appearance. I certainly hope you will understand.

Dr. Stukenbroeker joins me in expressing thanks for your kind comments.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

There is a saying about "persistence winning out" so I am still hoping that I may win out also.

In November of 1965 and again in November of 1966, I wrote you for the purpose of obtaining Dr. Fern C. Stukenbroeker to appear on our annual Convention program. In both instances, you advised that he had previous engagements but suggested that I try again.

Our annual Convention for 1968 will be held in Stevens Point on Monday and Tuesday, January 15 and 16, 1968. The Convention opens with a noon luncheon on Monday and closes at noon on Tuesday. We normally have an attendance of from 225 to 250 persons on each of these two days.

Because of the wonderful comments we have heard about Dr. Stukenbroeker's presentation at the Iowa Retail Hardware Association, we are most interested in learning whether it would be possible for you to arrange to have him appear on our 1968 program, either Monday afternoon or Tuesday morning. We would be most happy to try to adjust the timing of his appearance to fit with his schedule.

I do hope that it will be possible for you to give our request favorable consideration.

Thanking you for any favors you can grant us, I remain,

Allow me to convey to you the heartfelt appreciation of all of the members of the Rotary Club of Philadelphia who were privileged to hear Dr. Fern C. Stukenbroeker address them at their meeting today about "The Spy Who Came Up From The Grave".

These sessions will be held in the Coral Gables Senior High School at 7:30 on successive Wednesday evenings beginning November 1st, and they would like very much to have Dr. Stukenbroeker appear in the November 29th slot. An attendance of 400-600 teachers is anticipated, for the teachers receive salary increment credit.

Dade County Bar Association will, of course, pay all travel and hotel expenses of Dr. Stukenbrocker. We hope that it may be possible for you to assign Dr. Stukenbrocker for this commitment and await your advice.

I think you'll be pleased but not surprised to kngw that Dr. Stukenbroeker has rated first in effecti eness and popularity in three of the four seminars in which he appeared this summer and second in the other with such people as William Y. Dear Director Hoover:

On the evening of 18 September 1967 it was a pleasure and a privilege for Ships Supply Officer Divisions 5-2 and 5-4 to be host to a member of your staff, Dr. Fern C. Stukenbroeker. The lecture by Dr. Stukenbroeker on the aims and activities of the Communists in the U.S. was most interesting and enlightening. This topic is of particular importance to members of the Naval Reserve as we are both citizens and representatives of the military and should be made further aware of this dangerous conspiracy.

Dr. Stukenbroker's presentation was made all the more interesting by recounting cases to illustrate his points.

The members of Ship's Supply Officer Divisions 5-2 and 5-4 were extremely fortunate to have had the benefit of the experience and knowledge of Dr. Stukenbroeker in this important area. This effort is considered to constitute an outstanding contribution to the training program of this unit. It is requested that you convey our appreciation to Dr. Stukenbroeker.

November 20, 1967

Mr. J. Edgar Hoover
Director
Federal Bureau of Investigation
Department of Justice
Washington, D.C. 20025

Dear Mr. Hoover:

The members of Paul Coble Post No. 26 of The American Legion desire that I express to you our deep appreciation for the services of Dr. Fern C. Stukenbroeker for the sixth consecutive year here in Marion County, Indiana on our Anti-Communism Seminars.

Dr. Stukenbroeker spoke to over sixteen thousand high school students here last week, and I am already beginning to get letters from the principals expressing how well he was received by all of these students. In addition, Dr. Stukenbroeker spoke to a large gathering of professional people on Wednesday night and, as usual, was received wonderfully well.

Dr. Stukenbroeker has the unique facility of cominginto a community and delivering his message in a most forceful way, and yet at such a low pressure that no question of controversy about his appearance can arise.

We realize Dr. Stukenbroeker has come here several consecutive years; but there has not been the slightest indication that any student who has heard him more than once has minded.

When I get more responses from the high school principals, I will send you copies of them for your information.

Thank you again for your wonderful cooperation in making Dr. Stukenbroeker available to us and for sending the message to our students to be used on our program.

Sincerely,

Norman R. Booher, M.D.,

SUBJECT:

ANTICOMMUNISM SEMINARS FOR INDIANAPOLIS HIGH SCHOOLS SPONSORED BY PAUL COBLE

POST NO. 26 OF THE AMERICAN LEGION

It will be recalled that for the past six years the abovementioned Legion Post in Indianapolis has been sponsoring anticommunism seminars before the city and county high schools in the Indianapolis area. SA Fern C. Stukenbroeker of this Section has been the featured speaker over this six-year span.

SA Stukenbroeker's recent performance at this series of seminars a few days ago was particularly outstanding. According to Dr. Norman Booher, Adjutant of the Paul Coble Post No. 26 of The Legion, SA Stukenbroeker spoke to over 16,000 high school students and was very effective indeed. Dr. Booher stated "Dr. Stukenbroeker has the unique facility of coming into a community and delivering his message in a most forceful way, and yet at such a low pressure that no question of controversy about his appearance can arise."

To recapitulate, in less than a four-day period, SA Stukenbroeker addressed the student bodies of 18 high schools comprising more than 16,000 students. In addition, he spoke to a banquet of medical doctors and high school principals and appeared on four radio and two television programs. Among the high schools before which he appeared was one consisting entirely of Negro students. He was very well received in this school. The whole program was designed to emphasize Americanism, anticommunism, citizenship and support of the FBI.

RECOMMENDATION:

INJURY WHILE ON ANNUAL LEAVE

I talked with SA Stukenbroeker today and learned that he sustained a rather bad break in his left wrist. He will go back the doctor next Monday at 4 p.m. and then will learn whether he can return to work shortly thereafter. It will be necessary for him to wear a big cast for at least three weeks and then, if everything is progressing satisfactorily, he can wear a smaller cast. He stated that he has been experiencing considerable pain and swelling and hopes that everything will progress satisfactorily.

RECOMMENDATION:

That this matter be referred to the Administrative Division so that an appropriate note can be sent SA Stukenbroeker at his home in the event one has not already gone forward.

My dear Mr. Hoover:

Again we are indebted to you and your staff for helping to make our annual seminar for Pastors and Laymen an outstanding success. Dr. Fern Stukenbroeker and Mr. David Bowers do a superb job in their presentations and we are particularly grateful for the time they give to answering questions afterwards. The visit to your head-quarters is truly one of the highlights of the entire seminar.

On Friday evening, June 21, 1968, at 7:30 p.m., the Christian and Missionary Alliance will begin it's annual retreat for men which will run for three days. The retreat will be held at the Christian and Missionary Alliance Church, 7901 16th Street, N.W. in Washington. We would like very much to have either Dr. Stukenbroeker or Mr. Bowers to be the featured speaker at that first meeting. If this is not possible perhaps another member of your staff is available.

It is expected that about 100 men will be at the meeting and arrangements can be made for using visual aids or slides if the speaker desires to use either.

Thank you for your kind consideration of this matter.

Yours sincerely,

Dear Mr. Hoover:

About two weeks ago, I had a request for a speaker to address a large management organization in my home City of Charleston and the event promised to cause some embarrassment for the sponsors because their original speaker had been required to cancel his commitment. Under these circumstances, I approached the Bureau and received quick and responsive cooperation from ________ of your staff and others who arranged to set up a speaking appearance for Doctor Fern Stukenbroeker.

INSTRUCTIONS TO EMPLOYING AGENCY

- 1. Who must file.—All employees not excluded by law or regulation from insurance coverage, including those who have previously waived coverage, are required to complete and file Standard Form 176–T. Employees who are in the service on February 14, 1968, as well as those who are appointed after that date but before April 14, 1968, must file the form.
- 2. Automatic cancellation of previously filed waivers.—All "Waivers of Life Insurance Coverage" (SF 53) on file are automatically canceled as of the first day of the first pay period beginning on or after February 14, 1968. Payroll offices are to begin regular insurance deductions on the automatic cancellation date for employees who do not file a new waiver, i.e., those who do not check box C of SF 176–T, on or before that date.
- 3. Employees failing to file.—If an employee does not return a completed SF 176–T, contact him and urge him to do so even if he does not want optional insurance (he will, of course, be automatically covered for regular insurance). If he still fails to file SF 176–T by April 14, 1968, or 31 days after appointment, whichever is later, file one for him as of that date: mark box B, and note in the space provided for his signature "employee contacted—failed to elect optional insurance." See note 2 below.
- Review of completed forms.—(a) Review both copies of the SF 176-T for legibility, completeness, and consistency. Reconcile with the employee any obvious major - discrepancy such as a mark in more than one box.

- (b) If the employee marked box A or box C, make sure the Statistical Stub is complete. Then detach and mail stubs, in a bundle, weekly to:

Office of Federal Employees' Group Life Insurance (Statistical Study)

À East 24th Street

New York, New York 10010

- (c) If the employee marked box ${\bf B}$, detach and destroy the stub.
- 5. Date of receipt and effective date.—(a) Stamp date of receipt by employing office in the space provided for this purpose on both the Original and the Duplicate.
 - (b) The effective date is determined from the table below.
- Disposition of forms.—(a) File the Original SF 176-T in the official personnel folder in all cases.
 - (b) Any necessary payroll change, with effective date, may be posted in the space reserved on the Duplicate for employing office.
 - (c) The Duplicate may be destroyed, if no payroll action is required, or after the requirements of the agency's payroll system have been met.
- Use of SF 176-T.—SF 176-T "Election, Declination, or Waiver of Life Insurance Coverage" should not beused after the initial filing period (after April 14, 1968). A revised edition will be available for use after that date.

	Elects optional (in addition to regular) (box A).	Coverage effective February 14, 1968.	Deductions begin 1st day of 1st pay period beginning on or after February 14, 1968.
On or before February 14, 1968.	Declines optional (but not regular) (box B).	Declination effective February 14, 1968.
	Waives regular (so ineligible for optional) (box C).	Waiver effective last day of pay peri- od in which February 14, 1968 falls.	Deductions stop last day of pay period in which February 14, 1968 falls.
	Elects optional (in addition to regular) (box A).	Coverage effective on date of receipt.	Deductions begin 1st day of 1st pay period beginning on or after date of receipt.
After February 14 but not later than April 14, 1968.	Declines optional (but not regular) (box B).	Declination effective on date of re- ceipt, but employee loses auto- matic optional protection on Feb- ruary 14, 1968.
	Cancels previously elected optional (but not regular) (box B).	Cancellation effective last day of pay period in which received.	Deductions for optional stop last day of pay period in which re- ceived.
	Waives regular (so ineligible for optional) (box C).	Waiver effective last day of pay peri- od in which received.	Deductions stop last day of pay pe- riod in which received.

NOTES: 1. Because regular insurance coverage and deductions are automatic unless waived (by checking box C), A and B elections do not affect regular insurance effective dates.

2. An employee for whom the agency files SF 176-T because he failed to file is deemed to have declined optional, but not regular, insurance.

3. An employee with an uncanceled waiver (SF 53) on file cannot be insured any earlier than the first day he is in duty and pay status in a pay period beginning on or after February 14, 1968; filing of an SF 176-T before that date will not cancel an SF 53 any earlier. Deductions begin the day he becomes insured.

4. The effective date of regular (and optional) insurance coverage for an employee who has been on leave without pay for more than 1 year is the first day he is in pay and duty status. Deductions are effective the same day.

SPECIAL AGENT, GS-16 CRIME RESEARCH SECTION

There is attached the annual performance rating for the above-mentioned Special Agent for the period ending March 31, 1968.

During the entire rating period, this Special Agent performed his duties in a manner which substantially exceeds the normal requirements. In addition to a huge volume of excellent research work which this Agent turned out, he was also used on innumerable occasions representing the Bureau and the Director before outside groups throughout the country. A most favorable response was received and on 5 occasions during the rating period this Special Agent was commended on his research work or on the response to his speeches. The only thing to occur during the year which in any way reflects unfavorably on this Agent's work was one letter dated May 23rd which he received calling his attention to an inadvertent misspelling in an outgoing communication prepared by him.

This Special Agent's performance during the rating period was little short of "Outstanding" and it is anticipated that he will continue to function in this manner for an indefinite period. It is felt that his fine work justifies some special recognition at this time. In this connection it is believed that a lump sum cash award would be in order.

RECOMMENDATION:

RECITIO

Searched Numbered =

That the attached performance rating be approved and that this Special Agent be considered for a lump sum cash award in recognition of his far above-average performance during the rating period.

RECOMMENDATION FOR COMMENDATION

SA FERN C. STUKENBROEKER CRIME RECORDS DIVISION

The Little Rock Office was fortunate to have Dr. FERN C. STUKENBROEKER, Special Agent assigned in the Crime Records Division, present in Arkansas for a series of speaking engagements during the period April 30 through May 3, 1968. He appeared before three colleges, two high schools, at the largest and most influential civic club in Arkansas plus being on television during his stay. Uniformly the reaction to his presentation was most favorable. I have heard numerous comments from representatives of the various groups before which Dr. STUKENBROEKER appeared. They were lavish in their praise of him personally, as a representative of the Bureau, and of the manner and content of the material which he presented. As an example, following his appearance before the entire student body at Central High School, Little Rock, he kindly consented to appear before a series of history classes for elaboration and further development of themes of interest to the students. Television stations taped separate interviews with him.

Among commitments for Dr. STUKENBROEKER, were appearances before two predominantly Negro colleges, Philander Smith College in Little Rock and Arkansas A M & N College in Pine Bluff. Yesterday I had occasion to meet with Dr. ERNEST T. DIXON, JR., President of Philander Smith College, who commented that Dr. STUKENBROEKER's appearance was an outstanding success before his student body. Dr. STUKENBROEKER had the occasion to meet for extensive conferences and lunch with Dr. LAWRENCE DAVIS, President of Arkansas'A M & N. He further solidified the excellent existing relations with Dr. DAVIS and that institution.

We prevailed upon Dr. STUKENBROEKER to address employees of the Little Rock Office. His presentation was exceptionally well received and most informative for both the Agent and clerical force of this office.

The appearance of a person of Dr. STUKENBROEKER's stature in areas such as Arkansas contributes a great deal to the education of the general populace and enhancing the Bureau's image.

RECOMMENDATION:

That a letter of commendation be directed to SA STUKENBROEKER for the outstanding manner in which he represented the Bureau in a series of public engagements in the Little Rock area.

Dear Dr. Stukenbroeker:

As I look back over the convocation programs at Hendrix College for the 1967-68 academic year I believe that your appearance on our campus was one of the most significant events of the year. It is never easy to gauge student reaction, and if we are able to gauge it to some degree, we do not always understand it. My impression at the time was that student reaction was excellent. Conversations with students and faculty members since that time lead me to believe that this impression was correct.

Your manner of presentation is effective with the college audience. Of course, your own background in the academic world is a part of the explanation for this. But I am inclined to think that the personal qualities you bring to your work are of more significance even than the background of preparation.

It is reassuring to know that men like you are working in our government in the area of national security. Thank you for being an important part of the life of Hendrix College in the academic year 1967-68. Your visit with us, your convocation address, your informal contact with students, and your visits with the faculty will bear fruits for years to come.

Cordially.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

On the evening of 7 January 1969, Dr. Fern C. Stukenbroeker spoke to the Methodist Men's Club of Mount Olivet United Methodist Church, Arlington, Virginia on Communism and Christians in Government as previously arranged and authorized in your letter of 9 September 1968.

At the close of Dr. Stukenbroeker's talk, the Methodist men gave a standing ovation and enthusiastic applause in recognition of his keen insight and expert knowledge on communism as well as the expertise exhibited in the delivery of the talk.

Since the meeting, many members of the Methodist Men's Club have stated to me that Dr. Stukenbroeker was one of the best speakers they had heard and how fortunate we were in being provided the opportunity to hear him.

Again, please pass our heartfelt thanks to Dr. Stukenbroeker for such an interesting and inspiring evening.

Sincerely yours.

January 9, 1969

Mr. J. Edgar Hoover Director, Federal Bureau of Investigation Department of Justice Washington, D.C.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

During the eight years that Dr. F. C. Stukenbroeker has been coming to Indianapolis for the Anti-Communism Seminars of Paul Coble Post No. 26 of The American Legion, with which you are familiar, one of the very good friends that he made was Dr. A. L. Marshall, Jr. Dr. Marshall was a prominent Indianapolis physician who had been an official of our Indiana State Board of Health for sixteen years and who was very active in this program.

Early in December Dr. Marshall and his wife took a tour with the Murat Shrine to Hawaii, and shortly before they were to return Dr. Marshall was striken by a very serious illness. This illness resulted in three very severe surgical operations at the Kaiser Foundation Mospital in Monolulu, and eventually led to Dr. Marshall's death on January 1.

Inasmuch as the Marshalls had gone with the Shrine group, and I knew they had all returned, leaving Mrs. Marshall alone in Honolulu and knowing no one, I communicated with Mr. James Naegle, the Special Agent in Charge of the Indianapolis office of your bureau, and through him we were able to contact Mr. Paul Fields, the Special Agent in Charge in Honolulu, and explain the situation to him. Mr. Fields went the second mile and assigned Special Agent Edward S. Miller to look after Mrs. Marshall; and from December 30 on through Dr. Marshall's death, he did a multitude of very helpful and kind things which made Mrs. Marshall's difficulty easier by far. This was especially true after Dr. Marshall died because Agent Miller was able to get through a lot of the red tape and greatly facilitate the necessary things at this time.

Not only did Agent Miller do a necessary job, but he went the second mile in courtesy and kindness and understanding with Mrs. Marshall. Mrs. Marshall has asked that some way be found to express our and her appreciation to not only the Special Agents in Charge but also to Mr. Miller. The best way I could think of was to let the Director know, in the hopes that carbon copies of this letter, which are enclosed, can be included in the personnel files of the men concerned.

May I thank you personally for another example of the humaneness and cooperative spirit of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Sincerely,

Norman R. Booher, M.D.

SUGGESTION SUBMITTED BY SA FERN C. STUKENBROEKER CRIME RECORDS DIVISION

BACKGROUND:

Captioned employee has submitted a suggestion that steps be taken to determine the possibility of having an article regarding the FBI placed in "Aloft," official magazine of National Airlines. "Aloft" is published quarterly for more than 1.4 million National Airlines passengers and distributed in the seat pocket on every National flight. Passengers are encouraged to take individual copies home with them.

It is felt that an article about the FBI would tell National Airlines passengers what they could see by taking a tour of the FBI. Also, the article would set forth details concerning the FBI's investigative work. A copy of the current issue of this magazine is attached for review together with a copy of the suggestion.

INFORMATION IN BUFILES:

The Bureau has had cordial relations with National Airlines, which is based in Miami, Florida. The Miami Office has close and favorable contacts with the company and it is believed this office could make contacts to determine if such an article could be placed. "Aloft" and its editor, Karl Wickstrom, are not identifiable in Bufiles.

OBSERVATION:

It is felt that this suggestion is most worthwhile, especially since the magazine has such a wide distribution. The Bureau would be able to control the article. Appropriate arrangements could be made for an effective presentation, probably with pictures.

RECOMMENDATIONS:

- 1) That this suggestion be forwarded to the Waining Division for for its consideration.
 - 2) That SA Stukenbroeker be thanked by letter for his suggestion.

#485-69 Date To: From: (Suggester's name) Division of Assignment Director, FBI Fern C. Stukenbroeker Crime Records Division SUGGESTION That appropriate steps be taken to determine the possibility of placing an article in "Aloft," a magazine published by National Airlines. The article would deal with what a visitor to Washington, D. C., could see in the FBI if he visited the Bureau on a tour. Current practice or rule (Include manual citation as well as facts) Advantages of suggestion and annual savings (include basis for estimate) "Aloft," is published quarterly and is available to each passenger on National Airlines. According to the magazine, more than 1.4 million National passengers may read the magazine while in travel status. Copies are placed in each seat pocket and passengers may take them home. In this way, the FBI's story would reach a large number of American business and professional men, as well as ordinary travelers. Disadvantages of suggestion None. (The use by the United States of my suggestion shall not form the basis of a further claim of any nature by me, my heirs, or assigns upon the United States. I understand that I will be considered for any justified award only if my suggestion is adopted within two years after submission.) His talk was most enlightening and educational, and I feel that all those in attendance benefitted tremendously from this talk.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

On behalf of the Board of Trustees, the college administration, the faculty and the student body of Culver-Stockton College I wish to express to you our sincere appreciation for the recent visit to our campus of Dr. Fern C. Stukenbroeker and for the important contribution to our faculty and students. During his visit he participated with at least ten groups on our campus in learning situations which resulted in much inter-change of information and ideas. We are indeed happy to have had the benefit of his visit and of your approval of it.

These are vital and challenging days and the small college in America can be helped very greatly in its opportunities to stimulate and guide young people when it can receive the supplementary teaching which comes from a visit such as Dr. Stukenbroeker has recently made to our campus. We have a much keener insight into the communistic circumstances in our country and in the world and a keener awareness of our responsibilities as American citizens and as those who should be leaders in the future. We continue to appreciate your important contribution to our country and to the world and wish again to express our thanks to you for making available to us the resources of this bureau in the person of Dr. Stukenbroeker.

The Honorable J. Edgar Hoover Director Federal Bureau of Investigation U. S. Department of Justice Washington, D.C.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

I attended the luncheon held at the Harborview Room of the De Soto Hilton Hotel, Savannah, Georgia on March 20, 1969, when Dr. F. C. Stukenbroeker of your headquarters in Washington, D. C. gave a talk on the "New Left."

I considered it a great pleasure and an honor to have been invited to this function. Dr. Stukenbroeker did an outstanding job in explaining the aims, purposes, and goals of the "New Left", and it is my personal belief that all in attendance benefitted, tremendously from this talk.

To us in law enforcement, there is great satisfaction in knowing that you, and the Federal Bureau of Investigation, are "on top" of these groups who desire to bring changes to our way of life through unlawful and illegal means.

It was indeed thoughtful of Kenneth W. Whittaker, Special Agent of your office in Savannah and Special agent John P. Mc Guire of the Brunswick Resident Agency to invite me to this luncheon.

With kindest personal regards, I remain,

Very truly yours,

A.I. LOKEY

Dear Mr. Hoover:

It was my pleasure to be a part of the conference planned by Agent Whitaker on March 20, 1969 and presented by Dr. F. C. Stukenbroeker, I believe that these conferences can do a great deal to curtail student activism on college campuses and on the city streets.

Let me express my thanks to you in making this program possible and in providing excellent sources of help such as Agent John McGuire and special agent in charge, Ken Whitaker.

Keep up the good work.

Dear Dr. Stukenbroeker:

Dr. Lee Allen has told me of the very fine session which you had with the Patriotism Education Workshop at Samford University this week and of the splendid presentation you made on the subject of the New Left. I want to take this opportunity to thank you for your participation in this Workshop.

I have also heard many complimentary remarks with reference to your address before the Shades Valley Rotary Club, and I am delighted that the businessmen in that club had an opportunity to hear you.

We are deeply grateful to Mr. J. Edgar Hoover for permitting you to be with us and for your willingness to participate in the Patriotism Education Workshop. The fact that you would not accept an honorarium or allow the university to pay your expenses makes us all the more indebted to you, and to Mr. Hoover.

SUBJECT:

PUBLIC APPEARANCE THE SOUTHERN COMPANY ATLAN TA, GEORGIA AUGUST 14, 1969

Re Atlanta airtel to Director 7/9/69 and Director's airtel to Atlanta 7/11/69.

SA FERN C. STUKENBROEKER from the Seat of Government appeared as approved in reBureau airtel. He presented the Bureau's Jurisdiction and Responsibilities with respect to the new left, extremists and racial problems to a group of approximately 170 individuals who are leaders in the Greater Atlanta Area in education, industry, religion and government. Mr. STUKENBROEKER presented his material in a commendable fashion and his presentation was extremely well received by all in attendance. STUKENBROEKER's presentation enhanced the position of the FBI and raised its stature in the eyes of these leaders in the Greater Atlanta Area. I have heard nothing but favorable comments concerning STUKENBROEKER's presentation and the work of the FBI.

Mr. EDWARD E. NOBLE, President, Lenox Square, Inc., Lenox Square, Atlanta, Georgia 30326, made available to each of the persons attending the meeting a copy of "J. Edgar Hoover on Communism". This gesture was appreciated by all in attendance and had the effect of placing the Director's book on the desk of practically all of the leading executives in the Atlanta area. This gesture by Mr. NOBLE was very well received. By separate communication to the Director I have brought the foregoing facts to his attention and suggested that he consider forwarding an autographed copy of his book to Mr. NOBLE at the above address. Nothing in the files of the Atlanta Division would preclude such.

Because of the manner in which Mr. STUKENBROEKER presented his topic, the extremely favorable impression that he made on the Atlanta leaders and the enhancement of the FBI that he brought about by his presentation, it is my recommendation that SA FERN C. STUKENBROEKER of the SOG be commended by the Director.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

For the eighth straight year your associate, Dr. Fern C. Stukenbroeker, has spoken to over fifteen thousand high school students in ten high schools in Indianapolis in the four days November 4 through 7. As has been the case in the past, Dr. Stukenbroeker was enthusiastically received by the school officials at all levels in the Indianapolis school system, and he brought his excellent message in his inimitable fashion to the students he talked to, both in auditoriums and in classrooms

In addition to this yeoman task that Dr. Stukenbroeker has just completed, he spent the entire day of Monday, November 3, before the public news media of this area. He had seven radio and television appearances and has been widely picked up since by the news media. One of our most popular local television shows is on our NBC affiliate, Channel 6 WFBM, and Dr. Stukenbroeker spent ninety minutes with Mr. Jim Gerard on this program at noon Monday. On Tuesday the producer of the show called and asked if they couldn't have him for another ninety minute show while he was in Indianapolis. Unfortunately, his schedule prevented this; but the fact that this sophisticated local show would want him back speaks volumes, in my opinion.

Thank you very much for your continued interest and cooperation in this Anti-Communism Seminar program that we have put on now for many years. We hope that we'll be writing to you before too long for your permission to hold a similar program in the county high schools of Marion County, Indiana next year.

SUBJECT: SPEECHES FOR HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS

INDIANAPOLIS-AREA

SA FERN C. STUKENBROEKER CRIME RESEARCH SECTION

Your attention is called to the attached copy of a letter dated November 7th from Dr. Norman R. Booher, Adjutant, Paul Coble Post No. 26, American Legion, Indianapolis, Indiana, wherein Dr. Booher comments very favorably on the speeches last week by SA Stukenbroeker of this Section before over 15,000 high school students in the Indianapolis area. As will be noted in Dr. Booher's letter this was the 8th straight year in which Stukenbroeker has made these presentations. This year he spoke before the high school students in Indianapolis whereas last year he appeared before the high school students in Marion County outside the City of Indianapolis.

It is estimated that over the past 8 years Stukenbroeker has addressed approximately 120,000 high school students during the course of these appearances which have the support of the principals of the various schools and the school officials in the Indianapolis area. The purpose of the presentations is to expose the evils of communism, promote Americanism, and explain the operations of the FBI to high school students. In addition, each year Stukenbroeker has made numerous radio and TV appearances in the Indianapolis area in connection with his speeches.

During his visit to the Indianapolis area last week Stukenbroeke made a total of 16 speeches and 9 radio and TV appearances for a grand total of 25 separate appearances. It is of interest to note that during the 9 radio and TV appearances Stukenbroeker was on the air a total of 4 hours and 25 minutes.)

Stukenbroeker quite obviously has again done a very outstanding job in his various school speeches and radio and TV appearances in the Indianapolis area and it is felt that his superb work in this connection is worthy of some recognition.

Mr. Cartha DeLoach Assistant Director Federal Bureau of Investigation Department of Justice Washington, D.C.

Dear Deke:

Again Dr. Stukenbroeker has completed a very arduous schedule in our Anti-Communism programs here in ten Indianapolis high schools, and again he spoke to over fifteen thousand students and faculty of these schools. He was enthusiastically received by the school administrators and attentively listened to by the students.

In addition to this, the usual program, he was given extensive public media exposure on Monday, November 3. He appeared on seven radio and television shows in this area on that one day alone and was picked up by the news media as he went around for these programs. He also spoke Tuesday in front of the Indianapolis Rotary Club, and they moved their meeting from the usual meeting place in the Indianapolis Athletic Club to the Egyptian Room in the Murat Temple of the Shrine because of the anticipated crowd. This is a very high accolade to Dr. Stukenbroeker because only with unusual speakers does this happen.

We felt that the program this year was even more successful than any held in the past, and we want to thank you for your cooperation in making it possible.

Sincerely,

Norman R. Booher, M.D.,

My dear Mr. Hoover,

The Transportation Corp Women's Club of the greater Washington D.C. area would like Dr. F.C. Stoekenbroeker to be their guest speaker at our monthly luncheon on April 8, 1970.

The luncheon will be held at the Collingwood Inn on the George Washington Memorial Parkway south of Alexandria. The Social hour will start at 11:30 A.M., luncheon will be served at 12:30 P.M., and the program will start between 1:00 and 1:15 P.M. We would like Dr. Stockenbrocker to be our guest for lunch and for as much of the social hour as possible.

I heard Dr. Stoekenbroeker speak at the Northern Virginia Board of Realtor's luncheon. I would be most grateful if the Bureau could spare him for our program in April. He speaks eloquently about the past causes, present actions, and future effects of an element in American society that everyone discusses without real knowledge or understanding.

I hope that Dr. Stockenbrocker has time in his schedule to share his knowledge and insights with us.

Thank you.

Along these lines we have scheduled a luncheon meeting on March 16, 1970, at the Hospitality House, Crystal City, and plan to have a qualified speaked on the subject at this occasion. In eighbor and a very good speaker, has been contacted but had to decline because of job reasons. He gave permission to use his name in contacting you requesting a speaker for this meeting. I had originally hoped to get you to speak as you would have an impact and be the draw ing card we need to make this a successful endeavor. We are sorry to be unable to offer remuneration as we are a service club and all money earned this year will be donated to cerebral palsy. Dear Mr. Hoover:

A lecture on the problems produced by the youth organization "Students for a Democratic Society" was given the evening of January 13, 1970, by Dr. Fern C. Stukenbroeker of your Bureau, to the officer members of U.S. Naval Reserve Intelligence Division 5-2 (NRID 5-2) and Intelligence Company 5-1 (NRIC 5-1). Approximately 85 officers of these units were present and received the briefing as a special part of their general training on problems of intelligence interest.

I wish to express both my personal appreciation and that of the officers of NRID 5-2 and NRIC 5-1 for the presentation given by Dr. Stukenbroeker. The enthusiasm and interest displayed by Dr. Stukenbroeker contributed materially to the effectiveness of the program. The officers of the audience were most favorably impressed by Dr. Stukenbroeker's discussion. This opportunity to hear a very outstanding presentation by a senior member of your staff was particularly welcome. It would be appreciated if you would convey our thanks to Dr. Stukenbroeker for his time and effort.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

Dr. Fern C. Stukenbreeker was the speaker of the evening last Friday at the Union League of Philadelphia. It was the 75th Anniversary Dinner of the Merion Chapter National Society Daughters of the American Revolution. The group, about 225 in all, ranged in age from High School students to senior citizens, From the youngest teenage boy and girl, to the most sophisticated man and woman, the audience was spellbound while Dr. Stukenbroeker spoke.

I am writing to thank you personally and in behalf of the Chapter members, for making it possible for us to present Dr. Stukenbroeker as our speaker. He was by far the most outstanding personality and speaker that has ever been part of a program in this area.

Our grateful thanks go to Mr. Joe Jamieson for interceding for us and to you for your cooperation and above all to Dr. Stukenbroeker for his timely and enlightening message. Since Friday, our dimer committee has been receiving letters of praise about the evening, one lady wrote: "It was a pleasure, not a task to read his (Dr. Stukenbroeker's) lips, he spoke beautifully".

An enormous "thank you" from all the members of Merien Chapter to each of you, Mr. Hoover, Dr. Stukenbreeker and Mr. Jamieson, for making our 75th Anniversary dinner party such a huge success.

The two above-mentioned articles dealing with the SDS and student extremism are particularly hard-hitting and are receiving extremely wide circulation. Each has been sent to all on our Special Correspondents List, each has appeared in the "Congressional Record" and we are getting innumerable requests for copies of each of these items in quantity. In brief, the response to each has been outstanding indeed.

With regard to the PTA article, the idea of an article on extremism in the high schools was conceived by SA Fern C Stukenbroeker of this Section and some months ago he sent a most comprehensive letter to representative FBI offices requesting research material on extremist activities in high schools. Based on the replies to these letters, SA Stukenbroeker did appropriate research in connection with material which subsequently appeared in the "PTA Magazine." Through the Chicago Office SA Stukenbroeker had inquiry made of this magazine in order to get the article placed in a publication with Nation-wide circulation.

Stukenbroeker also did the research on the article entitled "A Study in Marxist Revolutionary Violence: Students For a Democratic Society, 1962-1969," which appeared in the December, 1969, issue of the "Fordham Law Review." This is a most comprehensive treatment of student extremism and the SDS and should do the Bureau untold good in the future.

RECOMMENDATION:

In view of Stukenbroeker's particularly outstanding work in connection with the research for these two articles, it is recommended that this matter be referred to the Administrative Division for the preparation of appropriate letter of commendation.

ENCLOSURE 67-301185-287

A STUDY IN MARXIST REVOLUTIONARY VIOLENCE: STUDENTS FOR A DEMOCRATIC SOCIETY, 1962-1969

JOHN EDGAR HOOVER*

People ask, what is the nature of the revolution that we talk about? Who will it be made by, and for, and what are its goals and strategy?

The goal is the destruction of US imperialism and the achievement of a classless world: world communism.

The most important task for us toward making the revolution . . . is the creation of a mass revolutionary movement . . . A revolutionary mass movement is different from the traditional revisionist mass base of "sympathizers." Rather it is akin to the Red Guard in China, based on the full participation and involvement of masses of people in the practice of making revolution; a movement with a full willingness to participate in the violent and illegal struggle.

The RYM [Revolutionary Youth Movement] must . . . lead to the effective organization needed to survive and to create another battlefield of the revolution.

A revolution is a war. . . . This will require a cadre organization, effective secrecy, self-reliance among the cadres. . . . Therefore the centralized organization of revolutionaries must be a political organization as well as military, what is generally called a "Marxist-Leninist" party.¹

We must take every opportunity to explain that the state cannot be challenged except through revolutionary violence. This is its nature.

We must study revolutionary principles of organization as Lenin, Mao, and others have written about them, develop collective methods of work and decision-making, and fight anti-communism

It is part of our function as a revolutionary youth movement 2

We're not communist inspired. We're communists. Corrupt, evil and it [our system of government] should be destroyed, in fact smashed.³

A disease afflicts America today—the disease of extremism. We see extremism of several varieties: left wing extremism (Old Left and

- 2. Revolutionary Youth Movement II, New Left Notes, July 8, 1969, at 5, col. 1. The Students for a Democratic Society (SDS) met in national convention in June, 1969, in Chicago, Illinois. Intense factionalism erupted, and the organization split into two major groups each claiming to be the true SDS. One group is generally known as the National Office faction, the other the Progressive Labor Party. The National Office group, in turn is beset by factionalism and differing viewpoints. One such subgroup is known as the Weatherman group, the other the Revolutionary Youth Movement II, based on the two position papers issued.

New Left); right wing extremism (Minutemen); black extremism (Black Panther Party); white extremism (Ku Klux Klan and anti-Negro hate groups). The mass media each day is filled with charges and countercharges, with accusations and counteraccusations, with one group bitterly assailing and denouncing another group. All too frequently these verbal assaults are reinforced with violent acts: murder, assault, arson, bombings.

Extremism poses a dangerous threat to the integrity of democratic institutions. Every American should be concerned. When individuals or organizations take the law into their own hands, they render a grave disservice to the concepts of civility and legality which hold our society together. The Greek historian Thucydides many years ago wrote about Athens:

Trust, the main element in high character, disappeared, laughed to scorn, and a convinced, suspicious hostility between man and man everywhere took its place.⁵

Our democratic society is held together by the law—that body of precedents, interpretations, statutes and pragmatic applications which theoretically provides balance, fair play and, to the best of human judgment, justice and dignity to the individual. The democratic process provides for change—but change within the framework of law. "The life of the law," said Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, "has not been logic: it has been experience." The law is a constantly evolving process which allows errors to be corrected, judgments to be reversed, and new knowledge to be incorporated.

Our society allows and encourages protest and dissent,7 the opinions

^{4.} The Ku Klux Klan has frequently abused the rights of others through extremist and terrorist violence. The brutal murders of Lt. Col. Lemuel A. Penn in Georgia (July, 1964) and of three civil rights workers in Mississippi (June, 1964) are flagrant examples of Klan violence. Extremism denies the legal rights of others (such as the right of assembly, free speech, travel, vote, and the press). On May 2, 1967, a group of Black Panther Party members armed with rifles, shotguns, and handguns invaded the chamber of the California State Assembly while that body was in session to protest pending gun legislation. Obviously, here was an attempt to intimidate the legislative process. In October, 1969, groups of SDS members descended on Chicago, engaging in an orgy of vandalism. These types of hooliganism are a threat to the operation of democratic institutions.

^{5.} J. Finley, Thucydides 210 (1963).

^{6.} O. W. Holmes, The Common Law 1 (1881).

^{7.} Legitimate protest encompasses a wide variety of choices and techniques, such as writing or visiting your congressman or other elected officials, letters to the editors of newspapers, petitions to legislative or executive bodies, and peaceful rallies and demonstrations. Legitimate protest means, basically, citizens expressing their opinions and views within the framework of the law. Our news media reflect constantly instances of how legitimate protest brings changes in society—ranging all the way from obtaining new traffic signs and playgrounds to changes in national policy. A great strength of our society is its ability to adjust to new problems, issues, and challenges through orderly and lawful change.

of the minority as well as the majority. Every citizen and group has the right (and duty) to point out the many imperfections in society and to take steps to have them corrected. But these steps must be within the democratic process—not in opposition to the law. Civil disobedience, violence and flouting of the law have no place in a democratic society. Free government is tragically weakened when individuals show disrespect for the law, engage in vigilante actions or endeavor to set one element of society against the other. When any group openly proclaims that our government should be overthrown by violence, the time has come to be concerned—and we as a nation have reached that point!

The quotations above⁸ reflect the existence in America today of a small group of individuals, primarily college students, who are working for the overthrow of our democratic institutions. A scant two years ago, few Americans had heard of the Students for a Democratic Society (SDS). Today these initials are the trademarks of a movement whose members have developed into embittered, vociferous revolutionaries who have ignited many campus insurrections. They have nothing but contempt for this country's laws.

Here is a new type of extremism, an extremism all the more dangerous because it emanates from a group of young people (many of whom are highly trained academically) whose bitterness against their country is so intense that many of them want blindly to destroy without much (if any) thought as to what is to emerge from this destruction. Their ill will is guided more by whim than plan, more by cynical pessimism than hope for a better future, more by the spiteful revenge of the frustrated than by dedication to a noble cause. A type of youthful barbarism⁹ seems to have taken hold of this minority (SDS being an extremely small minority of our college generation). Danger arises from the fact that these people, in their hatred and anti-intellectualism, will cause great damage not only in the academic community but also in society as a whole.

Let us look briefly at the history and development of the SDS from a relatively obscure and mild campus group to an organization advocating Marxist revolutionary violence. Then let us discuss some of the controlling processes and techniques of the SDS mentality, i.e., the processes which have severed allegiance to this country and to democratic principles.

^{8.} See text accompanying notes 1 & 2 supra.

^{9.} A vivid contrast to SDS extremism is shown by the many examples of student groups which have peacefully sought the correction of alleged wrongs in society and achieved results. Sometimes these groups are interested in strictly local problems (traffic control, local elections, housing). Other times, the campus group is part of a larger off-campus organization (political, economic, cultural).

The history of SDS is brief—spanning a scant seven years. Actually, SDS as we know it today was born at a convention of a mere handful of students meeting at Port Huron, Michigan, in June, 1962. These were the days of the civil rights struggles in the South. Many SDS members and sympathizers had been active in voter registration drives and freedom demonstrations and rallies. Their enthusiasm ran high and it seemed that SDS was to be a militant protest group bent on achieving reforms.

The original ideological framework of the SDS was proclaimed in the so-called Port Huron Statement adopted at the founding convention. Though the statement dealt with many issues of the day, it was characterized by two key words—"participatory democracy"—meaning, among other things, that the institutions of American society should be more open for individual participation and citizens should be encouraged to develop a sense of personal responsibility and concern.

As a social system we seek the establishment of a democracy of individual participation, governed by two central aims: that the individual share in those social decisions determining the quality and direction of his life; that society be organized to encourage independence in men and provide the media for their common participation.¹¹

The preamble of SDS's constitution¹² contains this sentence:

It [SDS] maintains a vision of a democratic society, where at all levels the people have control of the decisions which affect them and the resources on which they are dependent.

Following the Port Huron convention, SDS leaders returned to their respective campuses and embarked on an ambitious organizing campaign with the primary objective of "radicalizing" the students. In 1964, the Free Speech Movement erupted at the University of California at Berke-

^{10.} SDS was originally the youth affiliate of the League for Industrial Democracy. The two organizations, however, parted in 1965.

^{11.} Port Huron Statement, SDS Convention, Port Huron, Mich., Aug., 1962, at 7.

^{13.} SDS is the most militant of New Left groups. From its early days, SDS was basically an unstructured type of organization with little internal discipline (though this is now changing with some elements in SDS trying to develop a more disciplined cadre type of organization). SDS is held together primarily by national secretaries who travel extensively. There are an estimated 200 to 250 chapters, varying in size. These chapters are autonomous, doing "their own thing." Very little, if any, control can be exercised by the national head-quarters (in Chicago) over these chapters. Membership is difficult to determine because of the loosely knit structure. SDS claims some 40,000 members. In addition, on key issues SDS is able to mobilize the sympathetic support of a large number of non-SDS members, especially on anti-Vietnam and anti-draft issues. The moderate students, however, almost invariably drop away when SDS engages in confrontation and violent tactics. Since the June, 1969, national convention, SDS has become factionalized, so it is difficult to speak of unitary and national policies.

ley. Also, there were the Gulf of Tonkin incident (August, 1964) and the escalation of the Vietnam War. New Left leaders began channeling the movement into anti-war activities. The SDS actively participated in the growing student unrest and the demonstrations against the Vietnam War. However, SDS was not yet regarded as a revolutionary, violence-prone group.

In fact, SDS involved itself in community action projects. In the autumn of 1964, SDS reportedly was active in seven such projects.¹⁴ The theory of these projects was to organize the residents of communities around the immediate issues which affected their lives, such as housing, jobs, education, voting rights, and opposition to the war in Vietnam.

The "participatory democracy" theme propounded by SDS brought many enthusiastic responses. "What is the strategy of social change implicit in the concept of participatory democracy?" asks one commentator. He went on to say:

The concept has become important this past winter [1964-1965]....[A] number of SDS leaders have left college and are seeking to apply the idea in Northern ghettoes.

The SNCC [Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee] or SDS worker does not build a parallel institution to impose an ideology on it. He views himself as a catalyst, helping to create an environment which will help the local people to decide what they want.¹⁸

Enthusiastically, this commentator could say: "A new style of work, fusing politics and direct action into radical community organization, is emerging in both SDS and SNCC." 17

But the whole concept of "participatory democracy"—meaning a sincere effort to strengthen democratic processes by increased citizen responsibility—was a mere shibboleth. The seeds of anti-democratic thought contained in the original Port Huron Statement began to sprout, and the SDS (starting around 1966-1967) changed rapidly and perceptibly. It became more militant, more hostile, more anti-everything.

A close observer noted the process:

A year ago SDS was discussing the possibility of a move "from protest to politics." Today the discussion, and perhaps the decision, is "from protest to resistance." The distinction between politics and resistance is so great as to imply a qualitative change.¹⁸

^{14.} Smith, Report on SDS: Students now stressing 'resistance', National Guardian, April 8, 1967, at 1, col. 3.

^{18.} Smith, Report on SDS: Students now stressing 'resistance', National Guardian, April 8, 1967, at 1, col. 1 (became known as Guardian (Independent Radical Newsweekly) in the issue of Feb. 10, 1968).

This "qualitative change" was fundamental and foreboding: The SDS had rejected the role of working as a left wing force within the traditional political structure of society. "Most people in SDS," said one of its national leaders, "are not even vaguely sympathetic to the parliamentary game." Instead, it had cast its lot on a policy of resistance.

No matter what America demands, it does not possess us. Whenever that demand comes—we resist.²⁰

A resistance movement, based on the slogan, "Not with my life, you don't," is basic to helping people break out of their own prisons.

Many of us in SDS share a conviction that this is what has to happen. That we must resist, and that people must break free. None of us is sure we can win. All we can say is that there are other ways to lead our lives in the face of the obscenity of what American life is—and that we intend to live them that way.²¹

The dangerous Rubicon of violence had been crossed! Since 1967 the SDS has been involved in an ever escalating tempo of radical activity. In the spring of 1968, SDS was a spearhead in the violent student demonstration at Columbia University. The 1968-1969 academic year saw SDS violence on many campuses, including the conviction of an SDS member at a Midwestern university under the federal sabotage statute²² for attempting to bomb a Reserve Officers' Training Corps (ROTC) building on campus. In April, 1969, Cameron David Bishop, an SDS member, was placed on the Federal Bureau of Investigation's (FBI) "Ten Most Wanted" list of criminal fugitives. Bishop was charged with sabotage in the dynamiting of power transmission towers in Colorado.

The primary responsibility for handling violations of the law in connection with student disruptions rests with local law enforcement. The FBI, as a federal investigative agency, does not possess police powers including guarding buildings and grounds or providing personal protection. The FBI's responsibility is primarily twofold: (1) collection of intelligence data for immediate dissemination to authorized individuals in the executive branch of the government; and (2) securing evidence of any violation of federal laws within its jurisdiction.

Reported incidents attributed to the New Left suggest a few of the more serious federal crimes which some extremists may be disposed to commit. One group of offenses would be directed toward crippling military programs, including such acts as (1) sabotage to ROTC facilities on campus, recruiting stations, and other military installations, or war material (18 U.S.C. §§ 2151-56 (1964)); (2) destruction, theft, or alteration of any Selective Service document or record (50 U.S.C. App. § 462 (Supp. IV, 1969); 18 U.S.C. § 1361 (1964)); (3) counseling evasion of the Selective Service Act (50 U.S.C. App. § 462 (Supp. IV, 1969)); (4) counseling insubordination or disloyalty of troops (18 U.S.C. § 2387(a)(1) (1964)); (5) harboring deserters from the Armed Forces (18 U.S.C. § 1381 (1964)); and (6) interference with government communications (18 U.S.C. § 1362 (1964)).

Another group of offenses would involve riot and civil disorder such as (1) traveling in interstate or foreign commerce to incite a riot or otherwise encourage, participate in, or commit any act of violence in a riot (18 U.S.C. § 2101(a)(1) (Supp. IV, 1969)); (2) interfering with any fireman or law enforcement officer on official duty during a civil disorder in any way that obstructs or adversely affects interstate commerce (18 U.S.C. § 231(a)(3) (1964)); or (3) interference with the exercise of federally protected rights (18 U.S.C. § 245(b) (Supp. IV, 1969)).

There are many other possibilities, of course. Among these are (1) advocating overthrow of government (18 U.S.C. § 2385 (1964)); (2) desecration of the flag of the United States (18 U.S.C. § 700 (1964)); (3) assaulting, resisting, or impeding certain officers of the federal government (18 U.S.C. § 111 (1964)); (4) assaulting certain foreign diplomatic and other official personnel (18 U.S.C. § 112 (1964)); and (5) threats against the President (18 U.S.C. § 871 (1964)).

At the SDS's 1968 national convention in Michigan, a workshop on sabotage and explosives was held. Here participants were told not only how to manufacture Molotov cocktails and incendiary devices but also how they could best be used against the "Establishment."

In December, 1968, the SDS's National Council approved a resolution entitled "Towards a Revolutionary Youth Movement." This resolution stated flatly:

The main task now is to begin moving beyond the limitations of struggle placed upon a student movement. We must realize our potential to reach out to new constituencies both on and off campus and build SDS into a youth movement that is revolutionary.²³

This is where SDS is today²⁴—a youth movement dedicated to a revolution of violence.

^{23.} SDS National Council, Towards a Revolutionary Youth Movement (Dec. 1968), in Guardian (Independent Radical Newsweekly), Jan. 18, 1969, at 7, col. 1.

^{24.} In October, 1969, the Weatherman faction of the SDS staged a series of violent street demonstrations in Chicago. "Radical members of Students for a Democratic Society," read a news account, "wearing helmets and carrying clubs, ran through this city's near North Side last night, breaking windows, damaging cars and intermittently battling with the police." Chicago Police Battle Radicals, Washington Evening Star, Oct. 9, 1969, at 1, col. 8. The young people used clubs, chains, and pipes and as a tactic would suddenly break out of a peaceful march into small groups, yelling and throwing stones at anything

The SDS, however, is merely one group in the so-called New Left movement. This movement consists of many elements, for example, anarchists, communists (of various types), hippies, pacifists, and idealists. We must be extremely careful in differentiating and not lump all protesters into the extremist SDS category. Protest is a legitimate function of the university and society as a whole. This nation was built on protest. Many students and adults, for sincere reasons of their own, oppose the war in Vietnam, the draft, and university policies. They have a right to protest within the structure of free government. Great damage can be done by labeling these individuals as SDS members or guilty of advocating revolution. These non-SDSers are frequently manipulated by the extremist minorities, but they should not be summarily categorized as members or sympathizers of SDS.

Just what processes caused these tragic developments in the SDS? What factors molded the thinking and actions of this extremist minority of young people?

1) A basic and fundamental rejection of democratic institutions and values as archaic, irrelevant and meaningless.

SDS literature is filled with comments contemptuous of democratic institutions and processes. "I don't plan to vote," said an SDSer. "It's no choice—there are three pigs running for president. [W]e denounce the electoral process, it's senseless." Vote Where Power Is. Our Power Is in the Street," proclaimed an SDS publication. "While courts are still available to us as a means of defense, we should use them to the fullest extent, using the opportunity each time we appear in court to make clear the political nature of the police, courts, and attacks on in sight (so-called "guerrilla tactics").

These demonstrations were the result of careful advance planning by Weatherman. Members were encouraged to come to Chicago for violent confrontations. For example, in the September 20, 1969, issue of New Left Notes, an article was carried entitled: THE TIME IS RIGHT . . . FOR FIGHTING IN THE STREET. This article stated: "It is a war in which we must fight. We must open up another front against US imperialism by waging a thousand struggles in the schools, the streets, the army, and on the job, and in CHICAGO: OCTOBER 8-11." New Left Notes, Sept. 20, 1969, at 6, col. 2. Another heading read, "THE TIME IS RIGHT . . . FOR VIOLENT REVOLUTION." Id. at 10-11. Still another article dealt with how to dress for the violent confrontation ("Wear a motorcycle helmet or surplus army helmet." "Wear protective clothing. Wear hard shoes, never wear sandals! Wear shirts and jackets with tight cuffs and high collars for protection against gas." Id. at 14) and how to behave medically ("Don't panic if you see someone with blood streaming from the head." "Never try to remove a bullet that is still in the body." "Get a tetanus shot." "If you do go to a hospital, treat the doctors and nurses there as if they were pigs." id.).

individuals,"²⁷ proclaims the Revolutionary Youth Movement II. The law enforcement officer is called a "pig." SDS members taunt, and hurl bitter obscenities against the police officer. In a recent interview SDS leaders were asked:

Question: "How would you describe the government and the structure of this country?"

Answer: "Capitalist, pig, power structure. That's what it is."

Question: "Would you call it a democracy at all?"

Answer: "No."28

The whole history of Judaic-Christian culture is ridiculed, mocked and scorned. Out of this rejection of a belief in democratic values, grow dangerous processes.

2) Violence as the type of leadership required to effect change in the United States.

If an individual rejects democratic values, then violence becomes an acceptable means of action. The hatred of the "Establishment" (meaning the government, the military, private industry, and the educational system) is so intense that any means of attack is justified.

Until the student is willing to destroy TOTALLY and JOYFULLY those repressive structures—to attack and destroy the bourgeois social order—his student movement will always be just that—never truly revolutionary. There can be no liberated university in a dead society. All or nothing. The buildings are yours for the burning, for until they are destroyed, along with civilization and its DEATH, YOU will not live.

The revolutionary project should be clear to the student—destruction of the university . . . unless the student is capable of destruction as creation, there will be no revolutionary transformation.²⁹

To the SDS member, a key feature of this violence is guerrilla warfare. "We are working to build a guerrilla force in an urban environ-

^{28.} Interview with Mark Rudd, SDS National Secretary, and two other SDS leaders, on Television Station WJW, Cleveland, Ohio, Aug. 30, 1969.

The transformation of SDS into a more violent posture has caused many moderates and genuine liberals to drop out of the movement. A New Leftist paper comments: "Middle-class liberals, who once predominated in the organized antiwar movement by sheer numbers and political influence, are now a minority, though the decline in influence has taken overlong. The 'hard-core' radicals of last August in Chicago and January in Washington are now ascendant, not simply relative to the liberal shambles but absolutely, in terms of numbers and influence." ment."³⁰ He looks upon himself as an extremely small minority in a vast sea of hostile "imperialism," impotent, inconsequential and weak. Revolutionary power can be generated in his eyes, therefore, only through guerrilla tactics.³¹ No wonder the guerrilla, the individual who defied the Establishment and fought to overthrow existing society, is a New Left and SDS hero.³² Very revealingly, guerrilla warfare is a topic of study in the so-called free universities.³³ Here is a description of one course from a free university catalogue:

URBAN GUERRILLA WARFARE

We will study the aims and techniques of guerrilla warfare in an urban setting: organization, training, propaganda, intelligence and counterintelligence, sabotage, and civilian resistance. We will do this through the use of theory texts, practical manuals, and war games.³⁴

The whole concept of violence was tragically emphasized in a recent issue of SDS's New Left Notes. Under the caption, "Bring the War Home!," page one carried a full page photograph of a little boy with a big smile placing an object on a railroad track. The description read: "With a defiant smile, 5-year-old . . . shows how he placed a 25-pound concrete slab on the tracks and wrecked a passenger train."

3) This violence is justified as moral, honorable, the thing to do. This gives SDS violence and potential violence a pseudo-religious fervor, a seeming moral imperative leading to the danger that the uncritical ob-

^{31.} Here are the tactics of Weatherman as personified in the violent confrontations which took place in Chicago in October, 1969. Weatherman is gambling that guerrilla tactics, on the street violence (as in Chicago), will pay it high dividends in the radical left extremist movement: (1) by attracting recruits and validating militant street warfare as the best means of revolutionary action, and (2) by providing on the spot training for the building of a cadre revolutionary organization. Will it succeed? Hopefully, this militant Weatherman approach will be self-defeating, that more moderate student groups will arise, and that democratic methods of protest will prevail. Much will depend on the students on campus themselves.

^{32.} Fidel Castro, Ché Guevara, Ho Chi Minh, Mao Tse-tung are the tactical-ideological heroes of the New Left. SDS and other New Left literature carries extensive and favorable comments about them (including quotes from their writings and speeches). The Guardian, for example, devoted considerable space to what were reported to be unpublished documents from the Bolivian notebooks of Ché Guevara. These dealt with Ché's plan for guerrilla warfare. Urban Guerrilla Warfare: Ché's Plan, Guardian (Independent Radical Newsweekly), July 20, 1968, at 13.

In one attempted bombing by an SDSer, the culprit, who was apprehended and convicted, said he did not really want to injure any person. He wanted to destroy this ROTC building, he said, as a symbolic act, as his personal protest against the Establishment.

This SDS attitude is reminiscent of previous anarchist criminal activities in this country. Emma Goldman, the well known anarchist leader, has told how she and Alexander Berkman, another anarchist, plotted the murder of a key American industrial leader who, in their eyes, was symbolic of the hated Establishment. Berkman would personally attempt to kill him—not that Berkman had a personal grievance against this man, but that this individual was a "symbol of wealth and power." Berkman would gain nothing personally—nor did he expect anything.³6 To these anarchists, the deed was justified because it would not only shock the Establishment but also would propagate their message to the whole nation. The "message" was as important as the deed. It was for the cause! Goldman adds:

Our end was the sacred cause of the oppressed and exploited people. It was for them that we were going to give our lives. What if a few should have to perish?—the many would be made free and could live in beauty and in comfort. Yes, the end in this case justified the means.³⁷

Some SDS leaders have talked about "the politics of guilt"—meaning that, in their opinion, Americans have troubled and guilty consciences about injustices and inequities in their society. To the hard core SDS members, a policy of violent confrontation (including campus insurrections, bombings and arson) hopefully will bring public sympathy and approval (even if silent). Moreover, it may stir up interest in their cause and even prevent their prosecution later on criminal charges!

As a nation, we must recognize that this style of anarchist violence is a violation of our laws and should be treated accordingly.

4) Disaffection from democratic values and a growing tendency toward violence have led to an increasing SDS emphasis on revolution, meaning a qualitative and fundamental change in the economic, political, social and cultural system of this country.

^{37.} Id. at 88.

^{38.} SDS has had both successes and failures. At some campuses during the 1968-1969 academic year, SDS was able to mobilize successfully a large number of students on certain issues. Sometimes SDS exploited sensitive issues on the campus (as dormitory regulations, the unpopularity of some administrative decisions on personnel, a failure of communications between the administration and students) of deep concern to many students. In such instances, SDS was able to gain the support temporarily of moderate students, students who were interested exclusively in campus reform, not disruption or revolution. Failures of SDS have been a growing extremism, an inability to maintain moderate support, and difficulty in attracting non-college (working) youth.

Not long ago an observer of SDS activities commented that the SDS's attitude toward specific issues, such as opposition to the ROTC, the war in Vietnam and the university system, had become secondary to a bigger, broader, more important goal, namely, revolution.

Today, the SDS is calling into question the entire structure of American society and pronouncing it unfit for survival. The system as a whole, it says, is the enemy, not specific injustices and weaknesses. Accordingly, what is needed is a total purging of what is regarded as "evil," "corrupt," and "degenerate." Apparently, there is to be no compromise, no selection of what is good or bad. The entire apparatus is to be discarded.

Ideologically we began to grasp the idea that the system as a whole was the enemy; tactically we began to try to attack the system as a whole system. We gradually abandoned the notion that if we fought and fought for reforms we might succeed in reforming the system away or that consciousness would somehow arise out of enough local fights so eventually the local rent-strike group would spring into action as a guerrilla force.³⁹

Gone are the days of "sewer socialism," ⁴⁰ a term used by the SDS to mean reformist efforts on a local basis to improve society. The anti-war demonstrations changed this attitude.

Here in the United States those demonstrations set the terms for the struggle and gave the movement a push in gutsiness and in the targets it chose to attack. Remember the Pentagon and the nearly simultaneous West Coast Oakland Induction Center demonstrations. The slogans, targets, and militancy were almost totally new. We moved from individual acts of moral protest—remember the spring before the draft card burning had been considered the very limit of the movement—to massive attacks on the centers of military power in this country.⁴¹

The march on the Pentagon (October, 1967), according to the SDS, enabled the Movement to reach out "to millions where our organizing in the past could only reach thousands. . . . The demonstrations had a double effect: They spread the word that it was legitimate to fight and helped create a culture of resistance in which GIs revolted, white working-class gangs turned political"⁴²

The outcome is the current effort by the SDS to develop what is called

^{40.} SDS's exact words in speaking about "sewer socialism" are: "We had, in fact, overcome localism, provincialism, and tendency for 'sewer socialism'—the term for those in the era of Socialist organizing before the First World War who wanted to concentrate on local issues, prove that socialists could deliver street lights faster than the bosses could, and to build socialism in one city." a revolutionary youth movement (RYM). An SDS faction, Weatherman, issued a position paper which talks about a cadre-type, clandestine organization of revolutionaries under the discipline of centralized leadership. This organization would be buttressed by a revolutionary mass movement. "The most important task for us toward making the revolution:.. is the creation of a mass revolutionary movement, without which a clandestine revolutionary party will be impossible."

Can SDS, with its factionalism and hatred of discipline, create a revolutionary organization? Without it, the revolution cannot be brought about. The SDS militants know that discipline, organization and trained leadership are needed. The very fact that so many SDSers are talking seriously about revolution makes the future one to watch closely.

5) "The new left as it has been known during this decade disappeared during the Chicago SDS convention. It is being replaced by Marxism-Leninism." ¹⁴

This diagnosis by the Guardian, the "independent radical newsweekly" which reports New Left activities, identifies a process inherent in SDS even from its early days. SDS (including its many factions) is today Marxist-Leninist oriented.

A loosely structured group, SDS has always been an ideological potpourri, including several varieties of Marxist positions: Trotskyites (Socialist Workers Party and its youth group, the Young Socialist Alliance), pro-Moscow communists of the Communist Party, USA, and its youth affiliate, the W.E.B. DuBois Clubs, and the pro-Red Chinese Progressive Labor Party. As time progressed, the Progressive Labor Party (PLP) became extremely strong in the SDS, resulting in a massive factional struggle at the June, 1969, national convention. The PLP faction was expelled and exists today as a rival group claiming that it is the true SDS.⁴⁵

^{43.} You Don't Need a Weatherman to Know Which Way the Wind Blows, New Left Notes, June 18, 1969, at 8, col. 3.

^{44.} Viewpoint, Guardian (Independent Radical Newsweekly), July 5, 1969, at 12, col. 2.

^{45.} The "PLP problem" had been brewing for a considerable period inside SDS. In a pamphlet on why SDS expelled PLP, published by the National Office of SDS, these comments are found: "SDS's differences with PLP were not differences 'within the movement' or 'within SDS.' They are principled differences on what the movement is about, where and what the international struggle is about, and who the sides of it are. Since the PLP opposes revolutionary nationalism on the part of the colonized peoples; opposes the self-determination of black people within the United States . . . then they are in no sense a part of the people's movement, but in fact serve the enemy of the people." New Left Notes, Sept. 12, 1969, at 2, col. 3. In this connection, the Guardian, reporting on the 1969 national convention, talks about a "virtual ultimatum" from the Black Panther Party (and some other groups) demanding "that SDS purge itself of tendencies opposing their line on self-determination of oppressed peoples (including the right to secession). While insisting that it supports self-determination, PL[P] has stated that 'all nationalism is reac-

The two National Office factions (Weatherman and RYM II) and the Progressive Labor Party group have both similarities and differences. Because of conflicting claims the task of distinguishing their positions becomes difficult. The Guardian of June 28, 1969, however, reporting on SDS's National Convention, sets forth a brief summary of the various viewpoints.

RYM, as the concept is known, seeks to convert SDS into a mass revolutionary organization of youth grounded in Marxism-Leninism and Mao Tse-tung's thought.
... [T]he RYM group split into two factions known as "weatherman" and RYM 2, based on names of papers submitted to the convention by the two groups.

Both factions agreed on many points, but came to a parting of ways due to different ideas on such questions as black liberation, women's liberation, nationalism, the white working class and action tactics.

Weatherman . . . tends to deny the leading role of the working class in revolutionary struggle. It has been charged with adventurism both for its seeming indifference to white workers and for a shock-brigade action strategy

Blacks in the U.S. are viewed [by] weatherman as a separate colonized nation within the oppressor country. National liberation for blacks in the oppressor country, it is maintained, cannot be accomplished until capitalism is overthrown. On women's liberation, the weatherman tendency holds that women should be organized around anti-imperialist, antiracist struggles.

RYM 2 . . . sees the proletariat as being the main force in the revolution, while at this stage, revolutionary blacks at home and liberation struggles abroad play the leading role. Blacks, women and students, RYM 2 holds, play a key role in raising the consciousness of the working class by struggling for their own liberation.

Blacks in the U.S. are seen by RYM 2 as a separate nation, but because of the dual position of black workers—oppressed as blacks, superexploited as workers—"their fight for the right of self-determination is a precondition for any kind of socialism in this country." This struggle for liberation, along with women's struggle for liberation from male supremacy and the struggles of youth, is seen as a means of developing proletarian unity and revolution.⁴⁶

As to the PLP (here called PL) the Guardian states:

PL, which considers itself the vanguard of the proletarian struggle, sees the working class as the key to revolution. While supporting self-determination, PL insists that national liberation struggles, including the black struggle in the U.S. must have a class character. Juxtaposed to the Black Panther Party slogan, "Power to the people," PL demands "Power to the workers." PL says student actions must be in the objective interest of the working class. . . . Women are seen as superexploited workers, victims of the ruling class—not as being oppressed by men as well." 47

These groups differ also on tactics (how to bring about the revolution) tionary,' including the nationalism of oppressed minorities within the oppressor nation." SDS ousts PLP, Guardian (Independent Radical Newsweekly), June 28, 1969, at 3, col. 3.

In addition to these differences, there were problems of personal power (i.e., which leaders were to dominate). Actually, the voting strength of PLP was strong, and anti-PLP elements feared that PLP might even take over.

^{46.} SDS ousts PLP, Guardian (Independent Radical Newsweekly), June 28, 1969, at 3, col. 3, 11, col. 1.

as well as on overall strategy (the revolution itself). The Weatherman faction is the most militant, believing that direct, forcible, in-the-street guerrilla incidents must be pursued. RYM II, though not disavowing violence, is less militant. Guerrilla-violent tactics, RYM II leaders feel, are self-defeating and will probably alienate both potential recruits and public opinion. RYM II stresses study and education with an emphasis on the classical definition of the working class as the correct means to attain revolution. The PLP follows more RYM's tactics than those of Weatherman. The PLP, basing its position on the historic teachings of Marxism-Leninism, is not opposed in principle to the use of force. However, tactically speaking, it feels such extremist tactics at the present time would do the movement more harm than good.

Perhaps the SDS is the victim of history—that in attempting to bring about a revolution against "capitalist" society, it has partially succumbed to the Marxist-Leninist analysis of "imperialist" society.⁴⁸ Marxist terminology, concepts and thought processes permeate SDS revolutionary literature. In fact, the SDS, despite the purported intellectual prowess of its leadership, has not developed on its own an original, self-thought-out revolutionary analysis of capitalist society which would be independent of the historic Marxist viewpoint! Rather, the SDS and other New Leftists, who consider themselves "youthful" and "modern," have become prisoners of a nineteenth century doctrine!

A key issue pertaining to Marxist doctrine is SDS's efforts to make contact with the "working class," the "industrial proletariat" whom Marx considered as the class destined to carry out the revolution. Can ^{48.} SDS's Marxism is not yet an exact replica of the historic doctrines of communism. Marxism-Leninism, for example, does vaguely paint a future society after the revolution which, it is claimed, will bring a more abundant, just and harmonious life. The SDS, however, reflects little interest or concern about any society which would come after the revolution it proposes to bring about. Its main purpose is to destroy what now exists. In this aspect, SDS is closer to anarchism than Marxism. SDS, as an activist group, appears to have adopted those concepts, principles, and slogans of Marxism-Leninism which can best be used as destructive weapons against the "Establishment"—as "class struggle," "dictatorship of the proletariat," "imperialism." "[W]e live in a period when capitalism has developed into its highest stage—worldwide imperialism—and that because of this development the class struggle has become a worldwide struggle often manifesting itself in people's wars." Education Secretary's Report, The Boston Strangler: A Paper Tiger, New Left Notes, July 8, 1969, at 3, col. 1.

SDS talks about the need to wage armed struggles for liberation and overthrowing the capitalist order. The RYM II statement says: "In order for the U.S. proletariat to play its historic role, it must be led by a party of revolutionaries, organized on the basis of democratic centralism, guided by the science of the proletariat, the teachings of Marx, Engels, Lenin, Stalin and Mao. The party must be able to apply these teachings to the specific conditions of the U.S., in order to import class consciousness into the spontaneous struggles of the proletariat." Revolutionary Youth Movement II, New Left Notes, July 8, 1969, at 5, col. 4.

students alone bring about a revolution? Most SDS thinking (especially the PLP faction) says "no." Students must combine with "workers." In the summer of 1969, the SDS instituted a highly publicized "Work In" program⁴⁹ whereby SDS members were encouraged to secure jobs in private industry for the purpose of making personal contact with workers. In these contacts they were to attempt to "radicalize" the workers, that is, to convince them of SDS's position on current issues.

There is an abhorrence in the SDS to the Communist Party, USA, which is considered "bureaucratic," "old-fashioned" and "irrelevant." Communist Party, USA, leaders and members have been active in SDS activities, but its leadership is skeptical and critical of many SDS policies. For that reason, some top SDS leaders have publicly identified themselves as revolutionary communists with a small "c", that is, they claim they owe allegiance to the principles of Marxism-Leninism but not to either the Communist Party, USA, or its mentor, the Soviet Union. 52

Actually, however, all SDS factions are Marxist—with the Marxist

^{49.} The SDS circulated a "Work-In Organizers Manual" designed to aid SDSers in obtaining jobs. The Manual sets forth data on how to find a job, how to dress, what to say and not to say, and how to behave. "Try to make a few friends among the workers that might last beyond the summer. Two or three—or even one. And try to get their addresses and phone numbers before you leave the job. . . . Join the bowling league or the baseball team. Avoid running home at the end of the day to the 'safe' company of your old friends and political buddies. . . . Go to the bar or whatever hang-out they go to after work. . . . If you can't hold your liquor, don't make a fool of yourself trying to be what you think is 'one of the boys.' Get to work early—sit around and talk. This is very much worth the extra effort." Students for a Democratic Society, Work-In Organizers Manual 4 (1969). Actually, this Manual was originally prepared (1967) by the Progressive Labor Party and distributed as "The Vietnam Work-In Organizer's Manual." PLP elements in SDS took the original manual, put on a new cover, and introduced it as an SDS Work-In guide.

^{50.} See the articles by Bettina Aptheker, well-known leader of the Communist Party, USA, in the Party's theoretical journal, for an analysis of the Communist Party's view of the SDS and the New Left. Aptheker, The Student Rebellion, Part I, 48 Pol. Aff., Mar. 1969, at 15; Aptheker, The Student Rebellion, Part II, 48 Pol. Aff., April, 1969, at 12. Aptheker welcomes the "student rebellion," but deplores what she calls "petty-bourgeois radicalism" in the movement. She feels the New Left does not have a correct analysis of Marxism-Leninism and in reality is merely "playing" with revolution. In the Party's eyes, revolution is a "serious business" and must be prepared for through careful study and planning. Aptheker's conclusion is that there "is an urgent need for ideological and political leadership from the Communist Party and from a Marxist-Leninist youth organization." Aptheker, The Student Rebellion, Part II, 48 Pol. Aff., April, 1969, at 12, 59.

contempt for law, the dignity of the individual, and the rights of others. The tragedy of the SDS is that a group of young people, some with personal idealism and sincerity, have "jumped the tracks." They have left the mainstream of the democratic processes which have given life and meaning to the American experiment of government.

These students, many from economically affluent and well-educated families, have actually corrupted idealism and sullied the historic academic search for the truth. Many of their errors come from a shallow intellectualism, a lack of knowledge of history, and an arrogant self-righteousness which leads them to believe they alone know the truth. Dialogue, reason and understanding are scorned as contemptuous bourgeois values. "Non-negotiable demands," pompous generalizations, the simplification of complex issues into irrelevant and pious slogans—all these have propelled the SDS into the wasteland of nihilism, revolution and destruction.

Moreover, in the process they have lost their independence as either thinkers or custodians of the hopes of the future. Why? Because they have been captured by an antiquated totalitarian system known as Marxism-Leninism. In all their talk about being avant-garde, advanced thinkers, the bringers of a "new day," SDS leaders are voices from the past who talk in terms of violence, brute power and destruction. These are the age-old techniques of the conqueror and the criminal. In the name of dissent, SDS attempts to stifle dissent. In the name of an alleged pursuit of "justice," SDS is willing to jeopardize and undermine the accomplishments, values and welfare of a society which today is providing a higher standard of living and greater personal freedoms to its citizens than any society in history.

Our society has an obligation to face up to the realities of SDS extremism.

First, we must remember that SDS tactics represent a minority sentiment on our college campuses. The 1960's have been an age of protest, of questioning, of asking vital questions about our society. Our colleges have produced an inquiring generation, young people who are sincerely and deeply concerned about problems which arise from a complex, industrialized, urban society. We want this questioning process to continue. We should be thankful for the sophisticated, intelligent, poised generation of young people now coming of age.

Second, adults have a special obligation to establish and maintain a dialogue with the rising generation. All too frequently we in the FBI find a complete lack of communication between parents and young people about the really serious issues of life. Yes, there is talk about a new car or a vacation trip, but amazingly little about some of the basic problems which concern young people today (the war in Vietnam, the draft, race relations, poverty). Often a parent and a child violently disagree—and each goes his own way, preventing the mutual interchange of opinions. The generation gap is, to a large extent, a communication gap.

Third, in discussing the SDS (or any other type of extremism) we must be careful of our facts and not indiscriminately label those whom we do not personally like or whose opinions are unpopular as extremists. We must remember that many non-SDS, moderate students are also protesting about key issues of the day. We should not label these legitimate protests as "SDS extremism" and therefore dismiss them from consideration. The genuine, hard core radical on campus must be distinguished from the legitimate protester.

Fourth, we must remember that the way to combat extremism is not by counterextremism. In other words, one of the dangers of SDS extremism on campuses is that it will engender antidemocratic vigilante and illegal actions against this minority. These extremists can and must be handled under due process of law. There is no room either on or off campus for an antidemocratic backlash.

Fifth, society must take seriously its own weaknesses and work to remedy them, promptly, effectively and fairly. Young people very rightfully hate hypocrisy and sham. The best way to counteract extremism of any kind is through a healthy society with self-creative energies working for constant improvement.

Sixth, the legal profession has a special obligation. It simply cannot remain quiescent about the SDS's stance toward our laws and democratic society. Students in law school, in particular, have an excellent opportunity, through campus media and discussions, to emphasize the sanctity of the law and to explain that violence ultimately is self-defeating. If lawyers do not protest extremist violations of the law, who else is there to defend the law?

Theodore Roosevelt said: "Much has been given us, and much will rightfully be expected from us. We have duties to others and duties to ourselves; and we can shirk neither." 53

America must face up to the challenge of extremism—lest, step by step, the foundations of law are eroded to the detriment of all of us. No cement more durable to hold together a free society has ever been found than the law and all the majesty it represents.

^{53.} Roosevelt, Inaugural Address, in The Inaugural Addresses of the American Presidents 185 (D. Lott ed. 1961).

A confrontation between students at a New England high school and a group reported to be SDS associates.

Three shocking incidents happened recently in different cities of the United States. The episodes, though separate in themselves, are part of a national pattern.

Incident number 1.

Jake, a high school student, age eighteen, knocks on the door of a small house. Another student, David, age seventeen, answers.

"I've come for the class," Jake says.

"Yes, come right in," says David.

David escorts Jake into the front room. Some fifteen to twenty young people are present. They have started the class. Jake takes a seat.

What is the class?

David, as leader, defines the purpose: to discuss how high school students can disrupt their schools, organize trouble, harass the administrative staff, and even, as David emphasizes, "take over the school" if the opportunity should present itself.

It is a group of student extremists from various local schools learning the techniques of disruption!

Incident number 2.

Three young men stand on the sidewalk at the entrance of the grounds of a high school. It is morning and pupils are arriving.

Who are these young men?

They are members of the Students for a Democratic Society (SDS), a militant New Left group.

The young men offer the approaching students a leaflet. Some accept; others don't.

What does the SDS leaflet state?

In essence, that the high school is a prison and the students are being exploited.

It asserts that there are a "lack of student power," "rudeness from teachers," "ridiculous dress codes," "no say in course content,", "too many irrelevant

AND THE HIGH SCHOOLS

A STUDY IN STUDENT EXTREMISM

JOHN EDGAR HOOVER

(Reprinted with permission from "THE PTA MAGAZINE," January - February 1970)

Nobody is better qualified to talk about extremism than FBI Director John Edgar Hoover, long a bulwark against encroachments on our liberties, whether these stem from the left or from the right. Mr. Hoover, attuned as he always is to current crises and current dangers, here talks informatively about the creeping infection that is trying to invade our high schools.

tests," "unfair grades," "no opportunity to evaluate teachers."

Do students want to do something about "these deplorable conditions"? If so, the leaflet urges them to come to a certain center sponsored by a local college SDS chapter. There they can have discussions, read books, view films, and receive help in mimeographing papers and leaflets.

You, the student, are welcome to attend! Incident number 3.

A student walks into his high school library. There on the table he finds an odd-looking paper with a provocative or unusual name such as The Rat, The Radish, The Spark, The Free Press.

He's never seen a paper like this before. It's poorly printed. The editing is sloppy. Obscene words and cartoons are frequent. There are articles attacking the high school, the government, the military.

Schools, he reads in one article, are a "twelve-year course in how to be slaves." There is an announcement of some student workshops: "Classroom 'Guerrilla Tactics'—how students can effectively teach in the classroom"; "Radical Teachers and Radical Students—how they can work together." Another item talks about student actions: "Others tore up bathrooms and desks and broke windows to tell them how we see the schools." In still another article, he sees the cartoon of a guerrilla fighter and these words:

"In the final analysis, Revolutionary Culture is only a step towards R-E-V-O-L-U-T-I-O-N!!! It analyzes, seeks, and deals with the enemy. It points to the enemy as not being only an obviously discernible person, but possibly your own mother!! AND REVOLUTIONARY CULTURE TEACHES YOU TO DEAL WITH THE ENEMY!!"

What is this publication? It is a high school "free press," or "underground," paper, one of many in the nation.

How did it get into the school library?

It was smuggled in by a sympathetic student or faculty member and left there purposely.

A class in how to foment disruption in high schools, the leafleting of a high school by a radical

Alleged SDS associates dragging one of their members knocked down by the high school students in the unsuccessful attempt at infiltration group for the purpose of encouraging student discontent, the smuggling into high schools of obscene, filthy papers advocating revolution—a few years ago these episodes would have been almost unthinkable. But no longer.

High schools are today being specifically targeted for New Left attack, the downward thrust from the college level of student turbulence.

Not that high schools are currently being disrupted like colleges. But every indication points to increased student extremism on the secondary school level in 1970.

What is at stake here could well be nothing less than the integrity of our whole educational process as well as the institutions and values of our society.

For that reason, let's take a closer look at SDS's strategy toward high schools.

What is SDS? Why is it trying to disrupt high schools? What is it trying to inculcate into youthful minds? And most important, what can we, as parents and teachers and responsible citizens, do about the problem?

(Let's remember, when we talk about student extremism, that it exists in many forms. In addition to SDS extremism, we have black extremism—a growing problem—as well as extremism from Old Left groups. Perhaps never before have our schools on all levels been so subjected to extremist pressures of all types, white and black, left and right.)

SDS and its mentality of extremism

Just a short time ago SDS was virtually unknown to Americans. Today it is almost a household expression, meaning revolutionary and extremist students bent on destruction and riots both on and off campus.

The key emphasis of SDS is extremism, violence, and revolution.

Founded in 1962 by a small group of students at Port Huron, Michigan, what we call SDS moved quickly from a rather mild protest group into a grotesque, destructive genie that last October staged a violent "bust" in Chicago, proudly hailed by its own press as a "war" against the nation:

"Five hundred of us moved through the richest sections of Chicago, with VC flags in front, smashing luxury apartment windows and store fronts, ripping apart the Loop, and injuring scores of pigs [extremist term for police]. It was war—we knew it and the pigs knew it."

Though small in numbers (a claimed membership of some 40,000 in 200 to 250 chapters) and beset by factionalism, SDS has been a key instigator in numerous campus riots. With the group increasingly under Marxist influence, SDS hatred is directed against all facets of our society (called the Establishment). It seeks not reform but blind destruction, with little if any thought of what is to take the place of the system that is to be destroyed.

In carrying out its aims, SDS has developed the activist tactics of the guerrilla fighter. Who are SDS's heroes? Fidel Castro, Mao Tse-tung, Che Guevara, Ho Chi Minh. Why? Because in SDS eyes these men are rebels, guerrilla fighters who have attacked the Establishment in their own countries.

This is what SDS leaders believe they are doing: attacking a society whose democratic principles, morality, and values they not only detest but seek to eradicate. They possess, in their minds, a duty, an impelling destiny or mission to destroy the society in which they live—not tomorrow or next year, but now.

The college SDS and high schools

This guerrilla approach of SDS is directed against high schools. In SDS eyes, they are part of the hated Establishment. In SDS's opinion, the entire educational system (college, secondary, and elementary) is a vast factory and prison where students are molded into robots to staff, operate, and perpetuate the Establishment.

"The function of the schools under capitalism," says one SDS document, "is the preparation of an ideological army for imperialism."

Therefore, SDS-ers feel that it is their job as "guerrillas" to subvert the high schools. Here are thousands of young people, impressionable and at a point in life where they are making critical judgments about the values of life and society. ("Activity in the high schools is probably the most significant new tactic on the left today," writes one New Leftist.) These students should be influenced, or, to use a favorite SDS term, "liberated." Still another SDS term is "jailbreak."

"JAILBREAK," says an SDS paper. "We move on the high schools of Chicago. The schools are prisons and the prisoners must be liberated." (In some isolated instances, SDS-ers have physically stormed high schools.)

Now let's examine just how SDS, primarily a college group and small in numbers, is able to reach into high schools.

Experience shows that SDS attacks are largely (though not exclusively) instigated by college SDS members (or chapters), especially if the school is near an institution of higher learning where SDS is active.

Actually only in rare instances has SDS been able to organize a chapter inside a high school. The very nature of high schools, with their scheduling of classes, absence of dormitories, close supervision, makes the establishment of a chapter most difficult. SDS, therefore, operates in high schools primarily by creating a nucleus of a few SDS-motivated students (usually not members but sympathizers) to work inside the school as catalysts for radical action. If a student's older brother or sister is a college SDS member, or a faculty member is sympathetic, the infiltration process is accelerated.

Just how do college SDS-ers reach high school students and attract their interest?

- 1. By leasleting high schools. This is a fairly common occurrence, with college SDS-ers standing near a high school and handing out literature about the SDS or inviting students to support them in some project.
- 2. By holding seminars, conferences, and workshops. In an eastern state, high school students participated in SDS-sponsored anti-Establishment classes during the summer. In a western city, some eighty high school students attended an SDS conference, where the SDS line on imperialism, capitalism, and the "power structure" was set forth. SDS and communist literature (writings of Marx, Lenin, and Che Guevara) was available.
- 3. By assisting in the publication of an underground paper. College SDS-ers can aid in the publication of a high school underground paper (which may be in the form of a leaflet or brochure) by furnishing editorial direction, printing equipment, and money. Often these high school papers are so obscene, vitriolic, and intellectually shallow that they soon disappear. If there is no high school underground paper, the college SDS may invite high school students to write an article for the SDS college underground paper.
- 4. By encouraging high school students to observe and/or participate in college SDS-sponsored demonstrations. The key objective here is not so much the physical presence of these students to support an SDS project (though this can help), but their exposure to the rough-and-tumble tactics of on-the-street confrontations. In one instance, some fifty high school students participated with SDS students in seizing a college building.
- 5. By trying to secure speaking invitations in high schools. In one instance, an SDS-er spoke to a school assembly at the invitation of an international relations club; in another case, under the auspices of the student government. Nothing pleases SDS better than to have official (or unofficial) invitations to address students.
- 6. By working through faculty members who previously were either members of or sympathizers with SDS (usually as students in college).

SDS agitation inside the high school

The college SDS has attracted and developed some student sympathizers in high school. How is agitation carried on in these schools?

SDS's approach here is to stir up as much dissatisfaction as possible in the student body on withinthe-school issues. SDS, though a revolutionary Marxist group, realizes that these young people are not yet proper revolutionary material. The vast majority couldn't, care less for slogans about fighting "imperialism" and "warmongers." Many, it is true, are concerned about national issues such as the war in Vietnam and the draft, but in reality it is the immediate, at-hand student issues inside the school that, as one young lady told me, really "turn the kids on"—issues such as dress regulations (how short a skirt a girl is allowed to wear or how long a boy's hair should be), cafeteria'service and/or food, disciplinary rules.

These are the issues that SDS seeks to exploit.

If a student is suspended, let's say, for wearing his hair too long or using drugs or abusing a teacher, how is this handled by SDS?

It simply shows, says SDS, that you, the student, really mean nothing in this high school. The school is part of a wicked, corrupt Establishment that is trying to turn you into a robot. You have no freedom, no rights, no opportunity for creative expression. These rules are simply designed to make you part of the "system."

"Both student and teacher are tool and product of administrative totalitarianism."

The school administrator (usually the principal) is what might be called, in SDS eyes, the resident dictator. That is, he is the on-the-spot symbol of the hated Establishment:

"The administrator, whose real function is nothing greater than the maintenance of the campus (a task which could be easily performed by a simple-minded computer), has become the lord and master of our schools, commanding unbounded fealty."

Before an incident is staged, SDS (in its printed literature) makes clear that careful advance preparation must be made:

- 1. Is this the best possible issue on which to harass the administration? Unless a highly volatile issue is chosen, about which many students are concerned, the incident can backfire.
- 2. Gain support by talking about the issue with other students. "Show the students that we are on their side and have many of the same concerns they do." A good time to talk about these issues, says an SDS pamphlet on high schools, is during physical education classes.
- 3. Contact minority groups in the school to solicit their support.
- 4. Consider the possibility of an underground paper. When the first issue is printed, mail a copy to as many student cliques as possible ("so that the paper is in"). Why mail it? "Mailing is emphasized because any attempt to distribute such a paper on campus would result in those responsible for it being crushed by the administration."

5. Try to secure as much nonstudent support as possible: teachers, parents, religious groups, unions. This includes PTA's. "We should get our parents active in PTA and make a concerted effort to get PTA support. In all our dealings with these groups, our position should be polite but firm. We are asking them for support because we feel that in many areas our interests are mutual, but [we impress on them] that this is a student movement and we have no intention whatsoever of giving up any of our power to adults."

The SDS has no illusions about its ability, even with careful preparation, to carry off permanently effective protests. But it cites what can be done:

- At one school, thirty students destroyed their student activity cards and "sat in" for the first ten minutes of the fifth period in protest against an assembly's being called off for the third time.
- At another school there was "a storm of protest over the suspension of a student for wearing his hair too long...."
- Actually, SDS says, "even such seemingly destructive actions as starting trash can fires and pulling fire alarms are forms of protest directed at the school as it is now constituted."

SDS goals

SDS goals in high school agitation are both immediate and long range.

The immediate goal, of course, is to foment student unrest and turbulence for the specific purpose of harassment. The SDS is an activist group, more interested in confrontation and conflict than in study and ideology.

The long-range goals are several:

- To radicalize, as much as possible, selected students who might, upon entering college, be recruited into SDS and extremist activism. SDS realizes that only a small minority will either agree or be sympathetic. "The job of radicals is not to lead the youth," says one New Left writer. "It is to find young leaders and help make them radical."
- To build, if possible, a radical consciousness among the students as a whole; that is, to inculcate in even unsympathetic students a feeling that there is an "evil" Establishment, that their education is "irrelevant," and that society is corrupt; to undermine respect for the law; to try to tear down our national heroes and look for everything bad in our country; to urge students to be cynical about our values; and to discourage genuine cooperation between adults and young people.

- To develop a link with the future working class. Many high school students will not go to college but will obtain jobs instead. If, while in high school, they can be radicalized to a certain extent, they may be catalysts of future radical action; for instance, in labor unions. "If they can be socialized into a new ideology, the making of a radical industrial working class is both theoretically and practically possible."
- The ultimate long-range goal, of course, is "liberation" or "jailbreak"—that is, the complete disruption of the educational process.

What of the future?

SDS is badly split, and its organizational future is uncertain. The present factions are Weatherman (the most militant group, so called from the words of Bob Dylan, "You don't need a weatherman to know which way the wind blows"); Revolutionary Youth Movement II (which recently declared itself a separate "anti-imperialist" youth group); and the Worker-Student Alliance (controlled by the Old Left pro-Red Chinese Progressive Labor Party).

But regardless of what happens to SDS as an organization, the extremist mentality remains. In America today we have a minority of young people, many of them well trained academically, who have become disaffected from the fundamental values of the nation. These radicals, regardless of how they may quarrel among themselves, agree in their critical analysis of our society: that it is rotten and should not be reformed but destroyed. Speaking more and more in Marxist terms, this minority works for a revolution.

What can we do?

- 1. Be appreciative of the majority of our current generation of poised and intelligent young people. The extremist minority, though influential, represents only a numerical few of our young people. Let's not condemn a whole generation for the extremist tactics of a few.
- 2. Recognize that student dissent is not necessarily identified with extremism. Legitimate dissent is part of our tradition. We want young people to think for themselves; this is the very heart of our educational process. On our campuses we have students with a vast variety of viewpoints—sincere idealists, with deep and honest convictions of protest, as well as extremists. We must be careful of our facts. Let's not sweepingly categorize all dissent under the label of extremism.
- 3. Distinguish between peaceful change through democratic processes on the one hand and destructive violence on the other. Our system is based on the inevitability and desirability of change. But this change must be within the law, not carried out by violence.

4. Remember that any educational or school decision made under the threat or actuality of violence, blackmail, and coercion sets a dangerous precedent.

The growing infatuation with violence is one of our nation's most pressing problems. Education can function only in an atmosphere of mutual trust, a desire to search for the truth, and a willingness both to speak and to listen. Schools simply cannot function under the fury of the mob, the shadow of the barricade, or the fist of the disrupter.

- 5. As adults we need continuous and sincere communication with our young people. All too often adults "tune out" the young. Yet many of them have important messages. Let's talk to them—and maybe they in turn will listen to us. I'm sure the most effective school administrators, teachers, and parents are those who communicate with young people, are responsive to their legitimate needs and aspirations, and provide meaningful counsel.
- 6. Adults, especially teachers and parents, should set good personal examples for young people. Here is one of youth's major complaints—that adults talk in one way and act in another. The power of personal example, reinforced by personal conviction and courage, can be contagious for the good.

Let's admit that we have weaknesses in our society. Let's also assert that our society is working through legitimate processes of government to correct those weaknesses. We want young people to know what good will, hard work, and commitment to the positive can accomplish in a democratic society.

7. Keep faith with America. This means that in our pluralistic society we may have disagreements and conflicts, separate groups and interests, but that we all work for the best interests of our country. America needs a reaffirmation by its people of the heritage of freedom which gave it birth.

The very presence of an extremist minority of young people—as in SDS, which rejects our democratic values—should give all Americans concern. I know that you, as readers of The PTA Magazine, will do your share in meeting this challenge.

UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE

FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION *

WASHINGTON, D.C. 20535

September 21, 1970

Editor's Note: In the following Open Letter To College Students, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover pinpoints eight ploys used by radical extremists in their efforts to steer justifiable campus protest into violent and destructive channels.

By J. Edgar Hoover Director, Federal Bureau of Investigation Written for United Press International

As a 1970 college student, you belong to the best educated, most sophisticated, most poised generation in our history.

The vast majority of you, I am convinced, sincerely love America and want to make it a better country.

You do have ideas of your own - and that's good. You see things wrong in our society which we adults perhaps have mini-mized or overlooked. You are outspoken and frank and hate hypocrisy. That is good too.

There's nothing wrong with student dissent or student demands for changes in society or the display of student unhappiness over aspects of our national policy. Student opinion is a legitimate aspect of public opinion in our society.

But there is real ground for concern about the extremism which led to violence, lawlessness, and disrespect for the rights of others on many college campuses during the past year.

The extremists are a small minority of students and faculty members who have lost faith in America. They ridicule the flag, poke fun at American institutions, seek to destroy our society. They are not interested in genuine reform. They take advantage of the tensions, strife, and often legitimate frustrations of students to promote campus chaos. They have no rational, intelligent plan of the future either for the university or the Nation.

The extremists are of wide variety: adherents of the Students for a Democratic Society (SDS) including the Weatherman; members of the Young Socialist Alliance (YSA), the Trotskyist youth group; the Communist Party's Young Workers Liberation League (YWLL). Or they may be associated with the Student Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam (SMC), a Trotskyistdominated antiwar group.

Many are not associated with any national group. The key point is not so much the identification of extremists but learning to recognize and understand the mentality of extremism which believes in violence and destruction.

Based on our experience in the FBI, here are some of the ways in which extremists will try to lure you into their activities:

- 1. They'll encourage you to lose respect for your parents and the older generation. This will be one of their first attacks, trying to cut you off from home. You'll hear much about the "failures" and "hypocrisy" of your parents and their friends. The older generation has made mistakes but your parents and millions of other adults worked hard, built, sacrificed, and suffered to make America what it is today. It is their country too. You may disagree with them, but don't discredit their contributions.
- 2. They'll try to convert you to the idea that your college is 'irrelevant' and a 'tool of the Establishment.' The attack against the college administration often is bitter, arrogant, and unreasoning. SDSers, for example, have sought to disrupt the colleges by demanding the right to select professors, determine the curriculum, and set grading standards.
- 3. They'll ask you to abandon your basic common sense. Campus extremism thrives on specious generalizations, wild accusations, and unverified allegations. Complex issues of state are wrapped in slogans and cliches. Dogmatic statements are issued as if they were the final truth. You should carefully examine the facts. Don't blindly follow courses of action suggested by extremists. Don't get involved in a cause just because it seems "fashionable" or the "thing to do." Rational discussion and rational analysis are needed more than ever before.

- 4. They'll try to envelop you in a mood of negativism, pessimism, and alienation toward yourself, your school, your Nation. This is one of the most insidious of New Left poisons. SDS and its allies judge America exclusively from its flaws. They see nothing good, positive, and constructive. This leads to a philosophy of bitterness, defeatism, and rancor. I would like you to know your country more intimately. I would want you to look for the deeper unifying forces in America, the moods of national character, determination, and sacrifice which are working to correct these flaws. The real strength of our Nation is the power of morality, decency, and conscience which rights the wrong, corrects error, and works for equal opportunity under the law.
- 5. They'll encourage you to disrespect the law and hate the law enforcement officer. Most college students have good friends who are police officers. You know that when extremists call the police "pigs" they are wrong. The officer protects your rights, lives, and property. He is your friend and he needs your support.

6. They'll tell you that any action is honorable and right if it's "sincere" or "idealistic" in motivation. Here is one of the most seductive of New Left appeals - that if an arsonist's or anarchist's heart is in the right place, if he feels he is doing something for "humanity" or a "higher cause," then his act, even if illegal, is justifiable. Remember that acts have consequences. The alleged sincerity of the perpetrator does not absolve him from responsibility. His acts may affect the rights, lives, and property of others. Just being a student or being on campus does not automatically confer immunity or grant license to violate the law. Just because you don't like a law doesn't mean you can violate it with impunity.

7. They'll ask you to believe that you, as a student and citizen, are powerless by democratic means to effect change in our society. Remember the books on American history you have read. They tell the story of the creative self-renewal of this Nation through change. Public opinion time after time has brought new policies, goals, and methods. The individual is not helpless or caught in "bureaucracy" as these extremists claim.

8. They'll encourage you to hurl bricks and stones instead of logical argument at those who disagree with your views. I remember an old saying: "He who strikes the first blow has run out of ideas." Violence is as ancient as the cave man; as up-to-date as the Weatherman. Death and injury, fear, distrust, animosity, polarization, counter-violence - these arise from violence. The very use of violence shows the paucity of rational thought in the SDS, its inability to come up with any intelligent critique of our society.

Personally, I don't think the outlook for campus unrest this year is as bleak as some prophets of pessimism proclaim. The situation at some colleges is serious, but certainly not hopeless.

Along with millions of other adults, I'm betting on the vast majority of students who remain fair-minded, tolerant, inquisitive, but also firm about certain basic principles of human dignity, respect for the rights of others, and a willingness to learn. I am confident our faith has not been misplaced.

I thought that you and other Bureau officials would be interested to know that Dr. STUKENBROEKER very ably represented the Director and the Bureau in his appearance before the Jacksonville Civitan Club on 9/18/70.

His message on the "New Left" was quite well received and those in attendance, numbering better than 150, gave him a standing ovation at the conclusion of his remarks.

His talk was well organized, his delivery above average, and he held the attention of his audience for every minute of the some thirty odd minutes that he spoke.

I have received most favorable comments from individuals in attendance concerning Dr. STUKENBROEKER's appearance and without exception they expressed admiration for him as well as thanks to the Director for making his appearance possible.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

Dr. Fern Stukenbroeker articulates well and clearly the best that we have in America. He did a superb job at each of his appearances in Abilene. His audiences included high school students, college students, members of civic clubs, and law enforcement officers. At each appearance we were proud of him.

We wanted you to know how grateful we are to you and the FBI for making it possible for Dr. Stukenbroeker to come to Abilene and help all of us who are attempting to continue building America. We realize that the commitments of the bureau and the agents are so tremendous today that it is impossible to do all the things that you and your staff would like to do. We appreciate you and the FBI which you have so ably built.

Thank you for allowing Dr. Stukenbroeker to come to West Texas.

Sincerely,

Joe C. Humphrey

Dear Mr. Wright:

Your letter of December 1st has been received and I want to thank you for your kind invitation and your generous comments concerning the efforts of my associates.

Although I would like to address your annual seminar in Chicago next September, it is not probable that I would be able to appear even if tentative arrangements were made at this time. Experience has shown that the uncertain nature of my official schedule, coupled with the numerous matters which arise daily requiring my attention, precludes making plans so far in the future. I am sure you will agree that it would be most unfair for me to indicate an acceptance and be unable to appear because of some unforeseen matter.

I am pleased to advise you, however, that Dr. Fern C. Stukenbroeker will be available at that time and is looking forward to the opportunity to be with you on this occasion. You may communicate with him directly here at FBI Headquarters regarding any additional arrangements.

ASIS'will hold its seventeenth annual seminar at the Conrad-Hilton Hotel at Chicago on September 14, 15, and 16, 1971; and, if the experience of the past several years is any guide, we can expect to have in attendance more than a thousand registrants.

It goes without saying that we should be most honored to have you address our group as a keynote luncheon speaker on any one of the three days of the seminar--Tuesday, Wednesday, or Thursday--and this is to invite you most cordially to do so.

If this is not possible, and we would of course understand that it might not be, may we suggest that Dr. Stuckenbroeker, Mr. Sullivan, or Mr. Brennan address us instead. All three have on occasion made excellent presentations before our members and guests, as indeed have others from the Bureau.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

Recently Dr. Fern C. Stukenbroeker came to Birmingham, with your permission, to speak to 280 odd members of Rotary International. His message was extremely well delivered and exceptionally well received. More importantly, when we introduced Dr. Stukenbroeker, we suggested that he call "a spade a spade and a jellyfish a jellyfish", and in the process received a spontaneous and lasting ovation. This, of course, was a rousing compliment to you personally and to the position you have taken recently regarding Ramsey Clark.

Most Americans admire and trust you and are very hopeful that a suitable replacement director will fill your shoes once your retirement is indicated. Your contribution to America through the 46 years you have served is unmatched.

Again my grateful thanks for making Dr. Stukenbroeker available to Birmingham Rotarians.

In the December issue of the Bulletin, we featured an article by the Director entitled "Law Enforcement Faces the Revolutionary-Guerrilla Criminal," which was researched and prepared by SA Fern C. Stukenbroeker, Crime Research Section. Originally, the article was to be sent to the Tennessee Law Enforcement Journal; however, Assistant to the Director Mohr noted that it was an excellent presentation on this topic and would receive wider attention in the Bulletin. It is noted that on release of the Bulletin, the press quoted from this article, as well as the Director's introduction. It is believed that SA Stukenbroeker's work on preparing this material is worthy of special recognition.

The December Bulletin also featured an article entitled 'Identifying Disaster Victims, "which is very timely and interesting. The manuscript and research on this highly-specialized topic was prepared by Supervisory Fingerprint Examiner, Identification Division. This article highlights some of the vital factors connected with responsibility of local police when disasters occur. It reflects very favorably the outstanding work of the Disaster Squad as one of the many cooperative services offered by the FBI under the directorship of Mr. Hoover. We believe that should receive recognition for his outstanding work on this article. 30 $18 7-294

Re Memphis letters 1/6 and 1/15/71.

As scheduled Dr. FERN C. STUKENBROEKER made speeches before a symposium of the American Society for Industrial Security in Memphis on 2/16/71 and also addressed an early morning Fellowship Breakfast of the entire staff of Holiday Inns the following day, 2/17/71.

I had the privilege of being invited to attend both of Dr. STUKENBROEKER's speeches and I thought the Bureau should know that he makes a tremendous impression. Not only did he deliver the opening and principal address to the American Society for Industrial Security but he was present all day to handle special questions directed to him, and at the end of the lengthy schedule in late afternoon he participated in a panel discussion wherein questions were directed to him relating to his speech. I noticed that the majority of those present made an effort to personally contact him thereafter and express their appreciation for his appearance, their sympathy and admiration for the Bureau and the Director, and their gratitude for the Director's sending him to Memphis to give these business and law enforcement heads in Memphis the broad national perspective needed to cope with today's problems. Dr. STUKENBROEKER not only very impressively presented the Bureau's and the Director's views but also made timely and discreet references to the entire law enforcement community here in Memphis which I am sure will enhance the Bureau's image and be very helpful in obtaining the cooperation and understanding that we constantly need.

Dr. STUKENBROEKER's appearances before the Fellowship Breakfast of the executive staff of Holiday Innswas even more impressive than his speech on the 16th. The men present in this group, which numbered roughly a hundred, make an outstanding appearance and are obviously conservative, sound thinkers with far-reaching influence. It was obvious from their comments to

Dr. STUKENBROEKER after his speech and it has been obvious for many years that the officials of Holiday Inns are extremely pro-Bureau, great admirers of the Director, and extremely sympathetic to the problems of law enforcement.

As the Bureau knows, former retired SAC JENSEN was hired by Holiday Inns in a very responsible security position wherein he reports only to the President, Vice President and Chief Council; and it was he who first heard of Dr. STUKENBROEKER's visit to Memphis and requested this speech.

It would be extremely appropriate to recognize Dr. STUKENBROEKER's very impressive appearance on these two occasions with some form of special recognition or commendation, and I would like to take this opportunity to recommend such a step. He has definitely enhanced the Director's and Bureau's image in this area and I am sure this office will receive many dividends.

It is requested that the Bureau credit Memphis with Dr. STUKENBROEKER's two speeches if it has not already been done.
